Draft board reports only 32 new registrants

200 older men have failed to report change of address

There are a lot of men residing in the jurisdiction of Cook county selective service board who are keeping themselves into a lot of trouble. Two hundred of the fourth registration — men of the older age group — did not report changes of addresses. Their names are being reported to the FBI. That number of questionnaires were recently returned to the selective service board because of inadequate address.

The new registration, including those who have become eighteen years of age since July 1, 1942, has fallen far short of the expected two hundred. Only 32 have registered in that class. The last day for making such registration is December 31 at five p. m. Those of that class who have not registered by that time will be in the same class as fugitives and liable to apprehension by the FBI.

Registration can only be made at the selective service headquarters in each district. Registration can not be made on Sundays or Christmas day.

Arlington Heights board will begin examinations next week of 2-A and 2-B groups for possible reclassification into 1-A.

Have room for riders to defense plants

Arlington Heights transportation committee has received registration of a number of drivers who have room in their cars for passengers whose employment takes them to the following places:

Benjamin Electric.

Douglas Aircraft.

Devon and Clark, Chicago.

Anyone interested should get in touch with members of the transportation committee, who are Edw. J. Bouffard and Wm. Franke. Their office is the Bouffard real estate office, where applications by either car owners or passengers should be made.

Xmas basket fund goes 'over the top'

The Christmas Basket Fund committee have been working hard the past two weeks to bring in contributions for the Christmas baskets for the needy in town, and to plan for the filling and distribution of such baskets. While the need for help was not as great this year, there are still many in the village with large families and small salaries who would have a cheerless Christmas was it not for this helping hand.

The paper next week will carry the names of all contributors to the basket fund.

Pound of coffee is greatest Christmas gift

It was in the Masny store that a Herald reporter heard a housewife say that the greatest Christmas gift that she could receive would be a pound of coffee. "I would know that the giver was giving me something that money can not buy," said the housewife. "Coffee is more precious than gasoline."

Jan. 15 is last day to obtain war ration Book number one

The Office of Price Administration has extended the last day for obtaining War Rationing Book No. 1 to Jan. 15. Late registrants and those who, due to excess sugar, never received the rationing book, are asked to call at local rationing offices.

Wins amateur photography prize

W. K. Dodge, 306 N. Pine ave., Arlington Heights recently won a special award in an amateur photography contest in which employees of Public Service Company participated. The prize winners will be on display in the Arlington Heights office of that company until Christmas day.

Mr. Dodge labeled his entry, "The Tokyo Express." It shows two boys hauling a load of junk.

Village help ordered to keep within gas quota

Appoint committee to check gas consumption

"I believe that the village of Arlington Heights should set a good example for others by cutting down gas consumption of the municipal vehicles," stated Mayor Goedke Monday night as he appointed a committee to check with the water, street, fire and police departments to aid them in keeping within the gas quota that has been allowed the village. Those who will act as members of a voluntary rationing committee for the village are: Aldermen Franke, Griffith, Rizzi and Kehe.

"There must be less joy riding," continued the mayor, "and more walking or beat by the police. We must cut down mileage ten to fifteen percent." The mayor also suggested less traffic patrolling.

Clerk and treasurer were authorized to secure necessary book-keeping records covering the deduction of the victory tax from employees after January 1.

No parking signs will be placed at the Lauterburg & Oehler funeral home and on St. James st. between Dunton and Evergreen.

Cards vs Ela tonight on home floor

Arlington Heights Cardinals will tackle Ela high school on the Arlington court this Wednesday night, December 23, in a double header. Lightweight game starts at 7:30.

The Ela varsity promises stiff competition for the Arlington five, by virtue of their recent game with Palatine. Though the Pirates won, they did so only in the last 30 seconds of play and trailed the Ela squad 18-6 at half time. A second half rally by McElroy's boys enabled to whip the Blue and White by one point.

The Cards will be seeking their first victory of the season and rate a 50-50 chance to succeed.

The lightweight game is an unknown quantity but should provide an interesting game for the fans.

Has driven 14 years without an accident

William Baumgarten, an employee of Arlington Elevator & Coal Co. the past 14 years, was recently honored by the Elkhart and Casualty Co. of New York, by the receipt of a safe driver's gold pin with the inscription, "safe driver 14 years."

William has experienced no accident or property damage during that time. He started for the company when some of the deliveries were made with a wagon. The handling of the present delivery trucks is no easy job, but as Will says, "luck has always been with me and since I have received the safe driver award, I am more careful than ever."

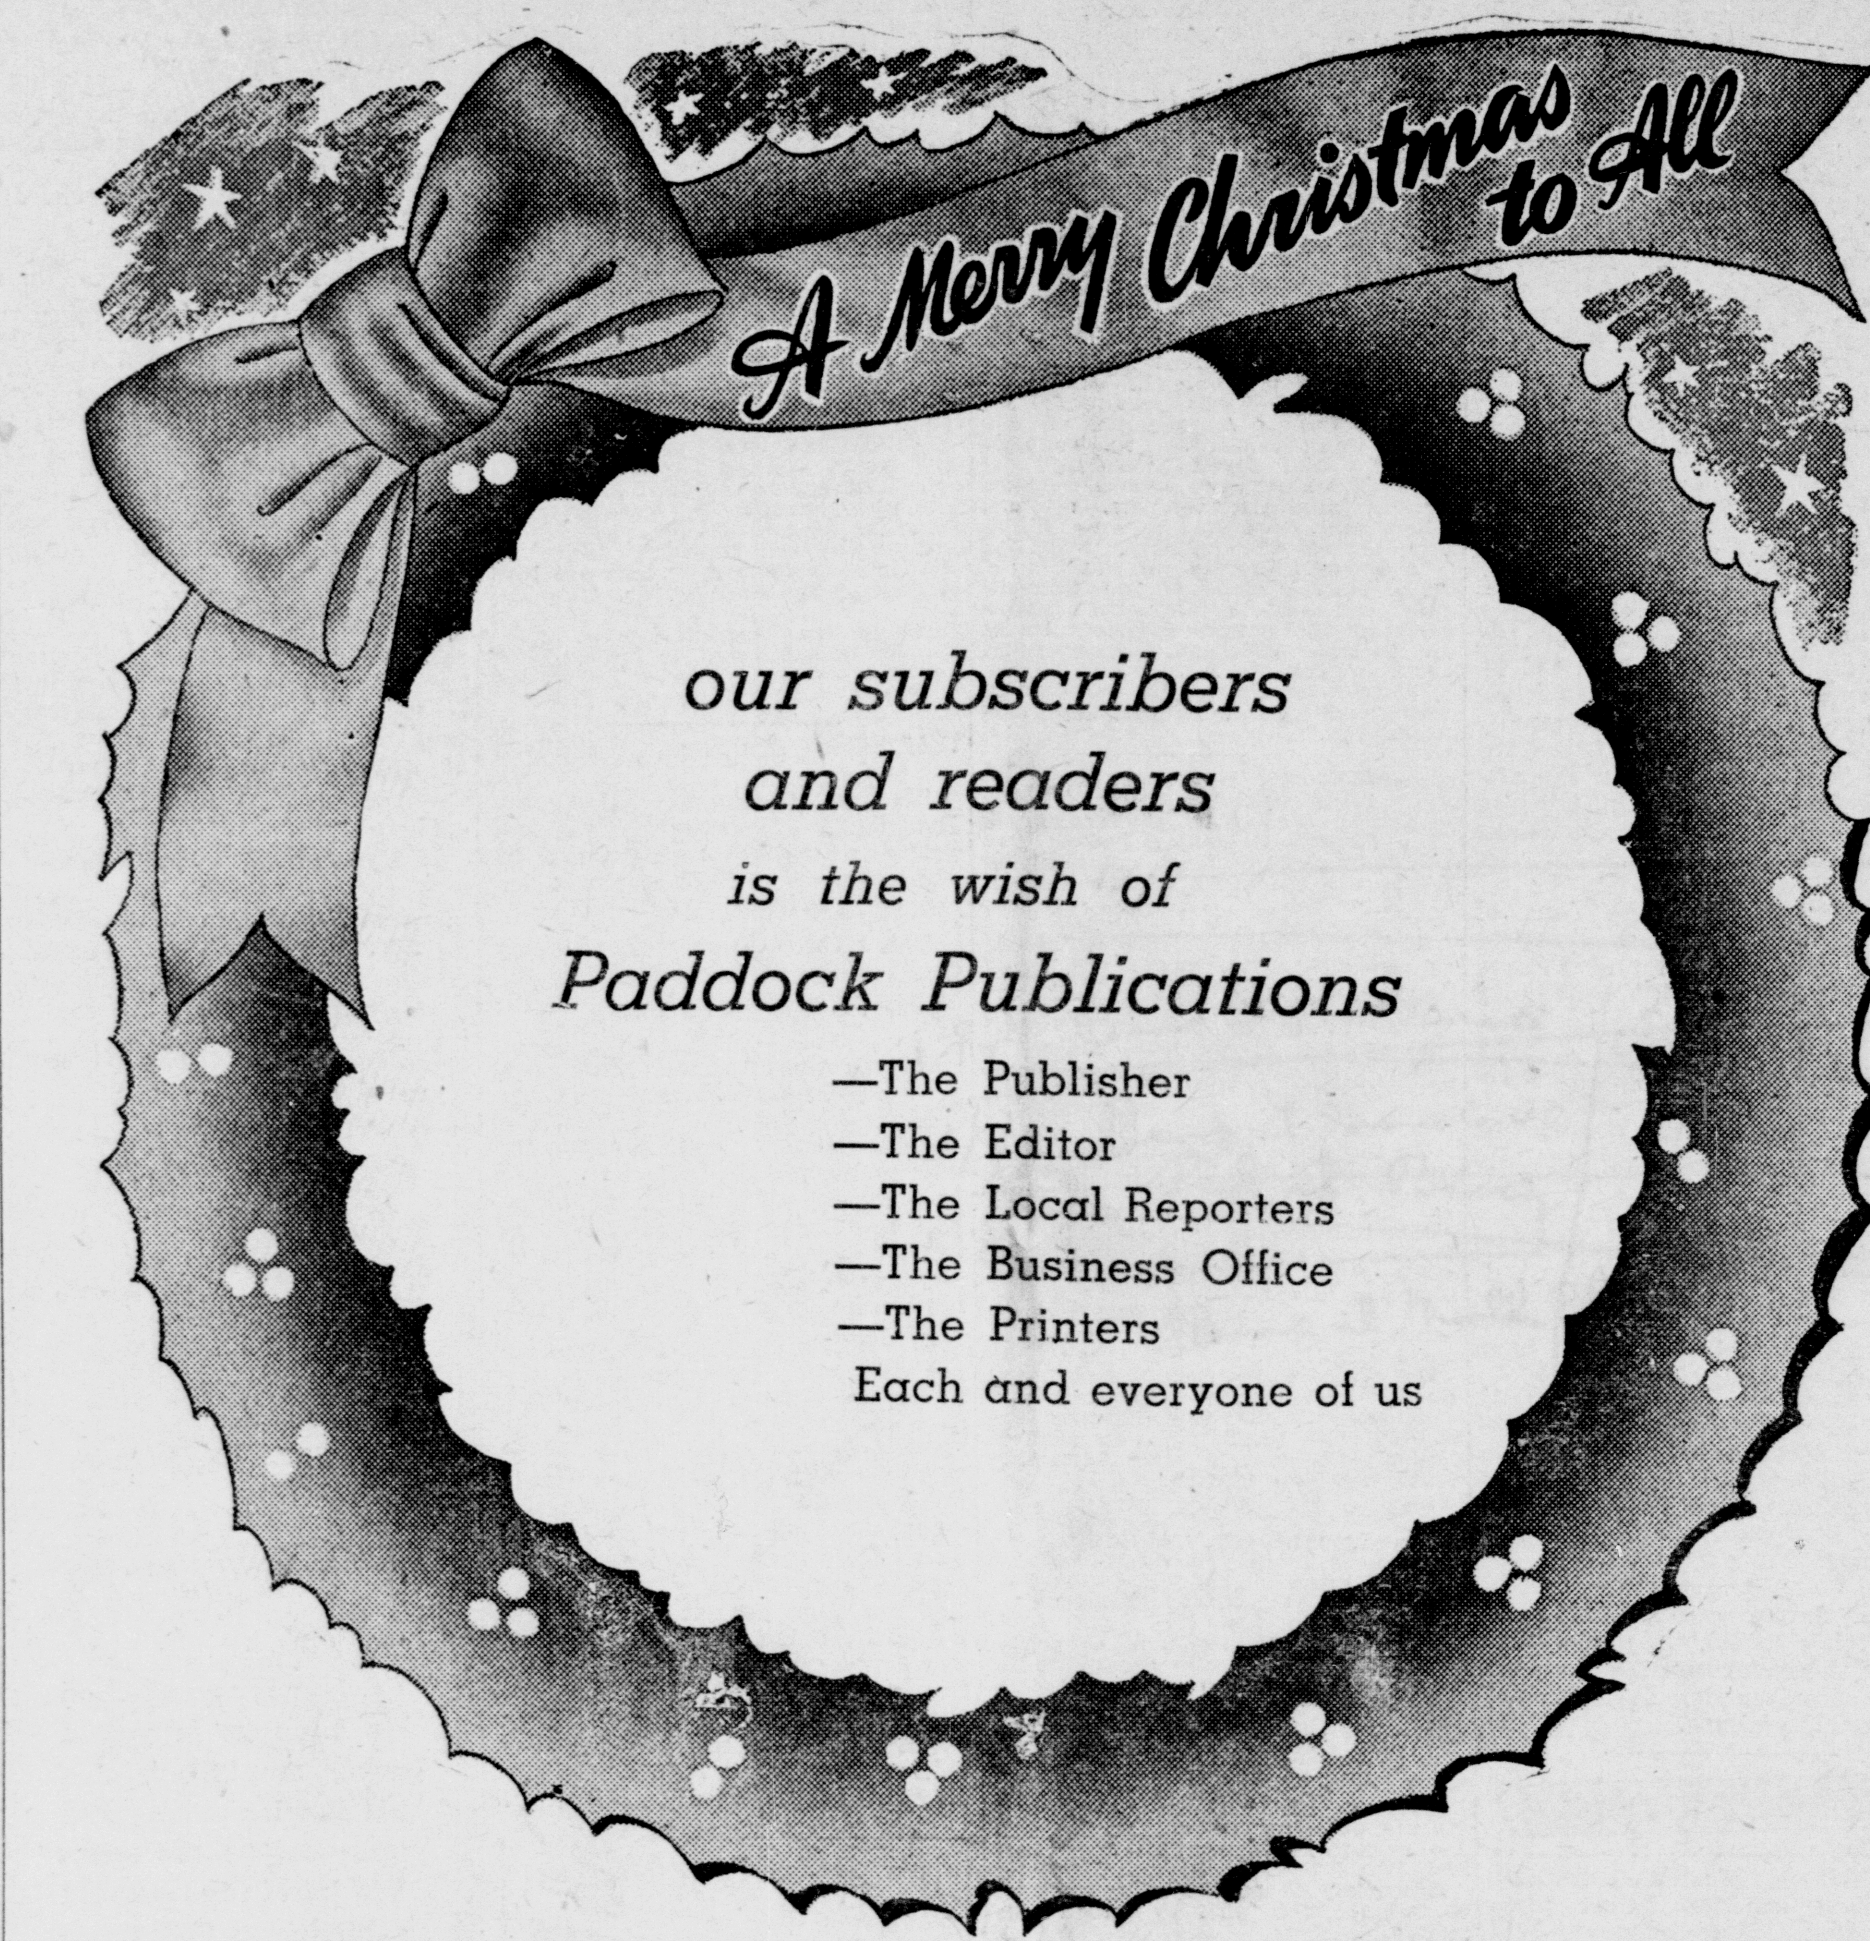

1943 state truck licenses require new information

Truck owners who go to a local notary to fill out applications for 1943 state licenses are required to bring with them a current stub of certificate of safety and special information regarding tires in use. The applicant must state the number and size of tires, manufacturer's rated capacity and estimated mileage since tires were new.

Applications can not be completed without such information, states Krause & Kehe.

Tin can pickup Saturday

The December collection of tin cans will be held Saturday, starting at seven o'clock. It is important that the cans be in place on the curbs by seven o'clock. At the last collection, many were missed because the cans were not ready when the truck went up the street. Geo. Poole says that he has received word that the tin is needed as badly as ever. "This is a patriotic job that needs doing," says Mr. Poole. "I am hoping that the December collection will pass the November total of nearly 6,000 pounds." If necessary get the cans out the preceding evening.

Arlington Heights Christmas Services

Sunday saw the beginning of Christmas festivities in the various churches of the village with religious services rich in song, and the telling of the Christmas story. Pastors preached their Christmas sermons at the morning services, and pageants and plays told the story in the evening services.

Tuesday and Wednesday evenings this week will again bring the age old Christmas carols to village folk, when the Carolling Tower of the Methodist church will send forth the Christmas story. The Sunday school will present the program for Tuesday evening and the senior choir will present Christmas music on Wednesday evening.

Christmas eve will bring the climax of the programs for the week, with all churches taking part.

Methodists to have midnight service

The Methodist church will hold a midnight candle lighting service on Christmas eve in keeping with the old Maravian custom, and all in the village are invited to attend this impressive service, which will be rich in the singing of Christmas carols, and in the Christmas story. In keeping with the Maravian custom, each person attending will take part in the candle lighting ceremony, and will carry his lighted taper to his own home. The legend has it that the wise men reached the Christchild at midnight on the evening that they followed the star, and so the custom of such a service has come down through the years.

St. John's candle lighting

The entire Sunday school and combined junior and senior choirs will have part in the candlelighting service at the St. John's church on Christmas eve, starting at 7:30 p. m.

A short resume of the program shows the sanctuary softly lighted, as two boys take their places at either side of the altar with their lighted candles as the organ softly plays. Pastor Kamphenkel and Superintendent Emil F. Baumgarten will read the responsive scripture for the program, and the choir will sing "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" just before the candlelight procession enters, singing "Oh Come All Ye Faithful." They will carry their lighted tapers down the aisles of the sanctuary and deposit them in holders about the choir loft as they take their places.

Primary boys arranged about the manger scene, will take the part of shepherds and will sing "While Shepherds Watched." The primary girls, as angels about the manger scene, will sing "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

This arrangement will set the prologue for the program which will follow, in which all departments of the Sunday school will take part.

At the close of the program, an offering will be taken for the benefit of the Bensenville home for Children and the Aged.

After the benediction the entire congregation will join in the Recessional "Joy to the World."

The St. John's church will hold their Christmas Communion service on Sunday morning at the worship hour with the entire membership and friends invited to take part.

St. Peter's church program

St. Peter Lutheran church of Arlington is offering Christmas festivities, which center about the infant Savior and feature the spiritual beauties of the holiday. The birthday of the divine Child will properly give prominence to the Holy Eve Vesper by the boys and girls of the parish school. Two separate and complete Christmas liturgies will be presented. The first Christmas Eve program is at 6:15 and the second begins at 8 p. m. Here is Christmas music at its best by the clear voices of happy Christian children. A new symphonic decorating scheme will delight your eyes. All children will receive a big bag of delicacies.

Christmas day will feature the pastor's sermon on the topic, "Can We Have a Merry Christmas?" and the reading of the nativity story with organ accompaniment. Our children's choir will sing Christmas carols at 10:45 a. m., fifteen minutes before the Christmas service. The senior choir is singing Haendel's Glory of the Lord. For the older folk, a Christmas worship is held in German at 9:30 a. m.

Our Lords Supper will be observed in the Spirit of Christmas on Sunday, December 27, 11 a. m. This is the last communion service of the year and the membership is invited to attend in large numbers. Registration for this communion is after the Christmas Eve and Christmas day services. You may also register on Saturday at the parsonage from four to five p. m.

Midnight mass opens Christmas at St. James

Midnight Mass will be served at the St. James Catholic church on Christmas eve, and those planning to attend are asked to arrive at 11:30 p. m. Other masses which will be held on Christmas day are at the hours of 6 a. m., 7 a. m., 8:30 a. m., 10 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. Father Stier will officiate at the first three masses and a Techny Father will officiate at the other services.

Presbyterians to have program Christmas eve

The Presbyterian church will have their Sunday school program on Christmas Eve, in the parish hall at 7:15 p. m., when the primary and junior departments will take part in the program. Santa Claus will appear and give to each child a gift from his pack. The program is in charge of the superintendent, Mr. C. I. Davis. The young people of the church presented a Christmas play on Sunday evening, entitled "A Sign Unto You," carrying the Christmas thought of service for others. Christmas music augmented the program.

St. John's Youth candle service

The Youth Fellowship of the St. John's church held a most impressive Candle Light service on Sunday evening, when the sanctuary was filled to hear the Christmas story, depicting the life of Christ from birth through the resurrection. Symbolic candlelighting ceremonies interspersed with numbers depicting the entire life of Christ in music, with a reader presenting the scripture passages for the various scenes was inspiring indeed, and the program closed with the singing of the "Messiah."

A large illuminated Christmas tree, lighted tapers in the windows at the altar and in the aisles and in the choir loft, gave a lovely Christmas setting for the pageant "The Light of the World" and left the true meaning of Christmas in the hearts of those who attended. Following the program the young people went carolling at the homes of the sick and shut ins.

Nativity

The sparsity of Christmas greens on the altar and the absence of the large Christmas tree in the sanctuary of the Methodist church for the presentation of the "Nativity" on Sunday evening, stood as silent reminders of a world at war, but the story depicted there in song and pageant, was the age old story, ever new, which stands out as a symbol of hope in a war mad world.

The Carolling Tower of the church carried the story of the birth of Christ all over town, as the beautiful anthems rendered by the choir and the eminent soloists, unfolded the Christmas message. The sanctuary was lighted dimly, with red tapers shining in every window, and a large panoramic view of Bethlehem's Hills serving as a background for the choir music.

The church was filled for the service and many stood outside to hear the music from the Carolling tower. Mr. Jack Everett, director of the choir, and Mrs. James McElhose, organist, deserve much credit for the splendid program, as do all who took part, for the pageant in its seventh presentation, touched the hearts of all who attended, and left them with a deep feeling for the Christmas season.

Mt. Prospect pastor leaves for the army

The Rev. Edwin Ira Stevens, pastor of the South Community Baptist church of Mount Prospect, leaves December 31 for service in the Chaplain's Corps of the Army of the United States. He will attend the Chaplain's School at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., with the rank of First Lieutenant. All Chaplains are addressed as "Chaplain" and almost never by their rank title.

The Rev. Stevens has been pastor of the South Church since the first of August, 1937. He came here from Parma Baptist church, Spencerport, N. Y., where he was pastor while attending the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School at Rochester, N. Y. He graduated from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School with Bachelor of Divinity degree in May, 1937, and was ordained to the Ministry, April 4, 1937.

He also served at churches in Georgetown, N. Y., New Hartford, N. Y., and at Earlville, N. Y., during the time he was student and instructor in public speaking at Colgate University, Hamilton, N. Y.

When he arrived in Mt. Prospect the membership of the South Church was 65. At the present time it has grown to 231.

The South Church building was begun September 20, 1937, and was used for the first time for Christmas services in December of that year.

Considerable church activities and service projects have been worked out under his guidance. Monthly mimeographed news letters were sent out to the parish members, and weekly bulletins in the local paper. The Drama club "South Church Players" was organized and presented drama programs each year.

He is familiarly known as "Steve" to the members of the church, and many who are not members. His work with the young people has been especially noteworthy, having turned over his living room many evenings for "date nights" for them. He served the past two years as chairman of Youth committee of Northwest Suburban Pastor's Fellowship.

Mt. Prospect will miss him, but the service will be richer for having a man of his caliber as Chaplain.

The Stevens family, Lucia Beth, Ralph and Bonnie, plan to stay with Mrs. Stevens in Mt. Prospect for the present, as Rev. Stevens has no idea where his first assignment will be, after the completion of school in four weeks.

Notice to farmers

Farmers with truck certificates of necessity that need to be corrected can bring them to the Transportation Committee at the Farm Bureau office, Arlington Heights after Monday, December 28th, for correction.

Are you ready for Xmas?

I wonder if all my last minute preparations for Christmas are ready?

"Oh no!" can be the reply of some 300 letters sent out by the Christmas Seal committee.

"You should send in your return for me 'right away'."

People are very conscious in this extreme season that good resistance to illnesses of all kinds is important. Buy Christmas Seals in Arlington Heights and you will help build that resistance for our youth.

Sophomore has narrow escape as home burns

Frances Zabbiass, a sophomore of Arlington Heights high school, 1061 So. Vail, Arlington Heights, had a narrow escape Saturday morning when she was awakened by smoke and flames. She sustained some burns as she rushed thru the fire that had already engulfed the interior of the house. Her father, Leo Zabbiass, and brother had gone to the train. Notified of the fire they returned and at first feared that Frances was still in the house.

The young lady escaped through a rear door with only her bed clothes, without shoes or stockings and reached a neighbor who called the fire department. The loss was complete; insurance was carried.

The fire evidently started from a fuel oil stove in the kitchen. 150 gallons of the fuel in the adjoining garage burst and added to the fire which gained considerable headway before the arrival of the department.

False Alarm Monday

Too much rubbish in an incinerator caused some smoke in the Landmeier apartments Monday night, resulting in a fire call. There was no damage.

Fire destroys Lutheran church at Fairfield

St. Mathew's Lutheran church in Fairfield, Lake county, oldest church in that area, was destroyed by fire Sunday after a battle of four hours by 50 volunteer firemen and apparatus from nearby Libertyville, Lake Zurich, Mundelein, and Long Grove.

The frame structure was erected in 1864 and was a landmark in Fairfield. The fire started in the basement, supposedly from an overheated furnace. The church was being heated in preparation for the rehearsal of a Christmas program when the fire started.

Fire Chief Julius Geary of Lake Zurich, who directed the fire fighters, said that efforts to halt the blaze were hampered by a lack of water in nearby cisterns. He estimated the loss at $15,000.

Correction

Last week Paddock Publications published the report that in addition to the "C" books listed by the Elk Grove rationing board at Mt. Prospect, 600 "B" books were issued. We stand corrected as but 273 "B" books had been issued as of December 19.

Baker resigns as school head; enters business

Mr. C. V. Baker, who has been superintendent of Arlington Heights elementary school since September, 1937, has resigned. He will take a position January 1 in the personnel department of the United Autographic Register Co.

In giving up a school teacher's job for one in the business world, Mr. Baker makes no excuses except that the "future" of the latter, as painted to him, had too rosy an outlook to be denied.

Arlington Heights is losing an able school superintendent, but he is leaving with the educational machinery well oiled, and the schools in excellent shape.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will continue to reside in Arlington Heights for the present.

A Christmas Message

O, Star that shines in the sky tonight,
Precious and pure as a fiery gem,
You carry me back to that sacred shrine
At the manger bed in Bethlehem.

The Wise Men followed you, crystal Star
And have you shone these many years,
To lead men's hearts in the path of Light
Mid the old world's doubtings and countless fears?

The Wise Men followed in the dark of night,
From the East they came, and from lands afar,
They knew not the meaning, but the Master called
And they followed thy light, O holy Star.

You led them at last to a manger bare
And Mary, with Jesus, the babe was there.
O Star, did the Wise Men question then?
Ah, no. They worshipped the Prince of Men.

His only robes were swaddling clothes
And as they knelt by His side in prayer,
The Wise Men knew that God had linked
All Heaven and Earth in His love gift there.

O Star, tonight the world needs to go
To that Bethlehem of long ago,
To touch His robes and offer all
As its gift to Him at the manger stall.

And as I quietly watch your light
That fills my heart with a peace tonight
You shine in my room as o'er Bethlehem
And I kneel to touch His garments hem.

Many injured in Chicago depot train accident

Seventy-four persons were injured Tuesday morning when a suburban train, loaded with loop office workers, rammed a bumping post as it was being brought to a stop at the North Western station. Eight of the injured were taken to Passavant hospital, but no one was believed to be critically hurt.

Most of those injured were standing in the aisles of the crowded train. A heavy pall of smoke and steam made visibility difficult and the engineer, John Moellers, 434 N. Monticello ave., failed to see the post in time to avoid ramming it. The eight-car train was from Barrington and pulled into the station at 7:58 a. m. It was traveling only two miles an hour when the accident occurred.

All of those who reported injuries were taken to the dispensary in the station and most of them were sent home after receiving treatment.

Lillian Weber, 112 Prospect st., Mt. Prospect.

Henry Hennig, 514 N. Evergreen st., Arlington Heights, nose and lips injured. Several fell on top of him.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, December 20.

The Golden Text was, "Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world" (Acts 15: 18).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. But ye be glad and rejoice forever in that which I create; for, behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy" (Isaiah 65:17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The fact of divine Science should be admitted—although the evidence as to these facts is not supported by evil, by matter, or by material sense—because the evidence that God and man coexist is fully sustained by spiritual sense. Man is, and forever has been, God's reflection. God is infinite, therefore ever present, and there is no other power nor presence. Hence the spirituality of the universe is the only fact of creation" (p. 471).

Gems of thought

"CONFIDENT TOMORROWS" He who believes in goodness has the essence of all faith. He is a man of "cheerful yesterdays and confident tomorrows." —J. F. Clarke.

Religion is not a way of looking at certain things. But a certain way of looking at all things.

Your daily duties are a part of your religious life just as much as your devotion.

—Anon.

A radiant sunset, beautiful as blessings when they take their flight, dilates and kindles into rest. Thus will a life corrected illumine its own atmosphere with spiritual glow and understanding.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

True religion shows its influence in every part of our conduct; it is like the sap of a living tree, which penetrates the most distant boughs.

—William Penn.

If your whole life is guided by religion, the hearts of others may be touched by this mute language, and may open to the reception of that spirit which dwells in you.

—Schleiermacher.

A Use for Old Paper Plates

When painting, glue an old paper plate to the bottom of the can or pail. It provides a place for the brush and prevents paint from dripping on the floor.

Sieburg Drugs caught Heller Lumber in the race for first position and by reason of total pins have taken over the lead. The Druggists won the first two quite handsly, but faltered in the third when "Pres" Rinker of the Woodmen finally woke up. According to the scores sent in the alleys were tough for all the boys on 1 and 2. The Webber Paints scored a two game win over Esquire Service while doing some fancy shooting on 3 and 4. "Big Train" Schneberger constructed enough "railroads" in his second game to relieve the transportation shortage. The "Ciggies" placed a pair in the Knaack Motors lost column on 5 and 6, and with a mite more luck could have made it three straight. Ad. Sledz of the Motors was high for the Dollar Nitely with his 549 series. Ken Heimlich was found practicing a new approach at the Deer Grove slide on Sunday. Your writer viewed his graceful maneuvers as he exhibited them on a pair of skis.

Well, fellows, the halfway point of our season has been reached with every thing still sliding very smoothly and we start again in a brand new year. The officers of your league thank you for your fine cooperation and wish each and every one, and yours, a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Fuel Wood Relieves Shortage
Fuel wood can help relieve shortages of coal and fuel oil. It can be cut from waste materials on the farm in four-foot lengths, full tree or log lengths or in convenient stove sizes. The practice followed will depend on transportation available and whether the wood is for use on the farm or for sale.

It's the law
ONE SUBSTITUTE
THAT'S "O.K."

In law the best method of giving legal Notice is by what is known as personal service. That is, the Notice in written or printed form is actually placed in the hands of the person directly and immediately concerned.
This is all well and good but it is not always possible or even necessary. The person or persons sought may have dropped from sight and their present whereabouts may be so many of them as in the case of a general Public Notice that it would be physically impossible or financially impractical to reach them individually.
In such situations, and in many others, the newspaper is a worthy substitute. It circulates widely. It is read regularly and thoroughly. The public depends upon it for a variety of services. It is readily available and, considering its coverage and effectiveness, the cost of using it for such purposes is relatively small.
The buying public has come to be wary of claims made for anything "that is just as good." Too often it has paid dearly for such learning. But in many legal matters involving Public Notices the newspaper of general circulation is not only a good substitute but is without an equal.

It Happened Here

SWING, CRADLE
O, little, fragile cradle moon,
Swinging to your ancient rune,
Such a fairy, little thing,
Might you not too far out swing
And fall, and fall?

O, cradle moon, you are not lost;
Your starry nail heads, sharp with frost,
Pin fast your slender guiding rope,
Glimpsed between fear and hope—
Don't fall! Don't fall!

We have just learned that sixty-six men have gone into service from our little community—sixty-six, count them slowly and thoughtfully; no wonder the houses seem to lean closer together, the snowy roofs to huddle for comfort; no wonder the streets seem all at once so empty, each footstep with a hollow echo—sixty-six, sixty-six. In an old novel, The Cloister and the Hearth, the father of a large family loved to see all his children gathered about him at the daily meal; one by one the children left home and at each break in the ranks at the table, the father would urge, "Sit closer, children, sit closer," lest he should see the empty place. Shall we all sit closer?

S'Amuser.

Arlington residents to observe Christmas 'around the hearth'

Christmas — the birthday of the Christchild will be celebrated in the homes of the good villagers of Arlington Heights again this year, with perhaps a truer meaning of the occasion, than in years past. Families will, as usual, gather around the festive Yuletide table, but in many cases one chair will be vacant to remind the group, of a brother, or other relative far from home on some fighting front doing his part that Christmas may be celebrated in the years to come, in a free country.

At no other time has it been more important to celebrate the birth of the "Prince of Peace" in a war torn world, and so we find families gathered together on the holy day, with a song on their lips and a prayer in their hearts that next Christmas may find the family groups again completed, and the world at peace.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baumann will join a family group in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Winkelman where five brothers, their families and the sister, Mrs. Baumann, and her family will celebrate the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dibble will have as their guests on Christmas day, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Dibble and family of Aurora, and Rev. J. B. Dibble of Hurley, South Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Capps will spend Christmas eve and the holiday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Sicken of Glenview.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ewert will entertain the families of both sides of the house for Christmas day, and the best gift, Barbara, will receive a release from a bad case of chicken pox.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Fellingham will entertain the Paul Fellinghams of Chicago, and the J. S. Monroe family in the village.

Rev. and Mrs. Milo J. Vondracek and family and the Senior Mrs. Vondracek will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Everett on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Miltzer and family will spend Christmas eve in the Theodore Miltzer home and the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles McElhose.

Mrs. J. H. Anderson arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin J. Kahn on Wednesday, from Colorado Springs, where she has been with her husband, who is stationed at Camp Carson, Colorado. The family group will spend Christmas day with her husband's parents, the J. H. Anderson, Sr., of Chicago. Due to a new assignment, her husband was not able to come home for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scherf will spend Christmas day at home when they will have a group of friends from Chicago as their guests.

Mrs. Walter Schimmel and sons, Douglas and David, left Sunday for Cochrane Field at Macon, Georgia, where they will join Captain Schimmel for the holidays.

Mr. Roy Lawbaugh, who has been a patient in the St. Francis hospital for the past two weeks, arrived home Tuesday evening, and will enjoy Christmas with the family.

Christmas Everywhere

Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas tonight!
Christmas in lands of the fir-tree and pine,
Christmas in lands of the palm-tree and vine,
Christmas where snow peaks stand solemn and white,
Christmas where cornfields stand sunny and bright,
Christmas where children are hopeful and gay,
Christmas where old men are patient and gray,
Christmas where peace, like a dove in his flight,
Broods o'er brave men in the thick of the fight:
Everywhere, everywhere, Christmas tonight!

For the Christ-child who comes is the Master of all:
No palace too great, no cottage too small.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mueller and family of Park Ridge will join the William Mueller family in the home of Jack Grose.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leicht, Jr., will join Mr. and Mrs. F. Sesterhenn of the village and Mr. F. Townsend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Dietz in Waukegan on Christmas day, and on Christmas eve the same group will be guests of the Leicht family, when Mr. Edward Leicht, Sr., and daughter, Katherine, will also join the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackburn will be hosts to relatives of Mrs. Blackburn, who come from Chicago, and also will entertain Mrs. Blackburn, Sr., of Waukegan. Glen Blackburn, who is on active duty in the far north, will be missed this year.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lauterburg will enjoy the day with their daughter-in-law and new grandson, but Fred, who was home recently on furlough, will be busy in army camp.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franke will join the Franke family in Chicago for Christmas eve, and on Christmas day will have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harkin of Bensenville, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jasper and family will spend Christmas eve at the home of Mrs. Jasper's brother and his family, the Stanley G. Rodine's of Chicago. They will entertain in their own home on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Heller will entertain Mr. Heller's sisters for the holiday, and David and Howard will be home from Knox college and the University of Chicago.

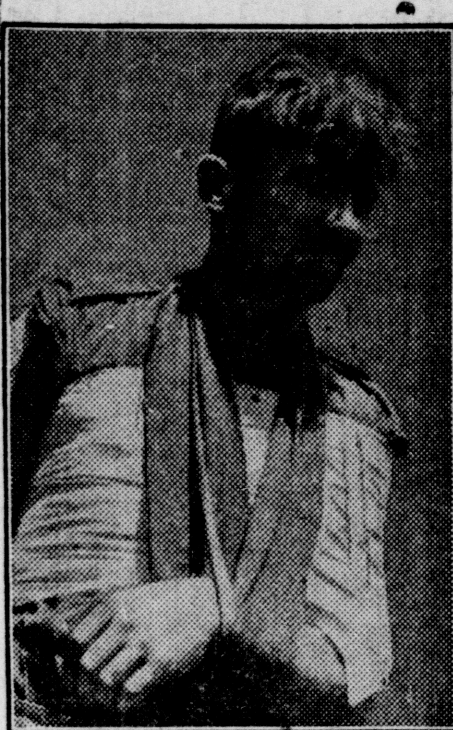

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reinshagen of Algonquin road are very happy to have their son, Allan, at home for the holiday. He reports at Fort Sheridan on the Monday following Christmas.

Mrs. Vance Folkman and small baby daughter, Patricia Ann, will return from the St. Francis hospital in Evanston in time to enjoy Christmas day at Grandma Rizzi's, where they expect to stay for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mills will spend Christmas week-end with their daughter and family, the Robert E. Childs in Hammond, Ind.

Mrs. Sherman Pate will entertain the Willard Pates, the Willard Pates and the Marshall Pates for dinner on Christmas eve, and the group are particularly happy that Lt. Sherman Pate, is home on a ten day furlough from Quonset

They Can Take It

This West Australian, Private H. R. Nash, is typical of the hardy infantrymen who have pushed the Japs back through the jungles and mountains of New Guinea. Wounded during a clash with the enemy on the Kokoda-Buna trail, Nash made his way back to his base on foot, taking seven days to cover the distance.

Point, R. I. Due to gas rationing the McConaghy family from Appleton, Wis., will not join the group this year. Richard and Pates will spend Christmas day with a family group at the home of Mrs. Banta, the Wilbur Pates will join a family gathering at Joliet and the Marshall Pates will be in River Grove for the holiday.

Dr. and Mrs. Best are happy to have their son, Richard, of New York City, as a guest for several days. Richard arrived on Thursday and will remain until shortly after Christmas. He will enter officers training on December 28.

The Arthur McElhose family will have a large gathering of relatives from the village and Chicago for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Morrissey and son, Douglas, will spend the day at Lake Geneva, where they will join a family group.

OES, Masons entertain St. Nick Friday

The O.E.S. chapter and the Order of Masons of Arlington Heights, held a joint Christmas party on Friday evening in the Presbyterian hall, for all families of the Orders, and the occasion was a festive one indeed.

The group enjoyed singing Christmas carols, and movies proved one of the treats of the evening. A large Christmas tree decorated the hall, and Santa Claus resplendent and jovial, appeared and presented each child with a gift. The old man was in a gay mood, in spite of priorities on so many of his toys, and his difficulty in getting about due to lack of gasoline for his airplane, greeted each child and carefully listened to each and every want, and wished all a merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, where the tables were decorated in keeping with the holiday season.

'Bundles' unit delivers Xmas gifts to men

The Bundles for America Christmas stocking drive is now a thing of the past, but the results of that drive are at the moment being delivered to navy, army and air bases in the Chicago area. Two thousand stockings (the quota for Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights and Inverness) plus nearly a hundred more are being taken to the Glenview airport for the men there as well as for the men on the lake aircraft carrier.

There has been a concentrated saving of gasoline so that these Christmas packages, made and filled in this locality, can be delivered to the Commandant in person by Mrs. George Hartford, chairman of the Arlington Heights unit; Mrs. William Danielson, chairman of the Prospect Heights unit; and Mrs. Charles M. Smith, chairman of the Inverness unit.

Wednesday night navy pier will be decked out for one of the biggest Christmas parties that has been held there for some time. Nine Christmas trees, in full decoration, are set up in the auditorium. Beneath these, uniformed officers from the Chicago headquarters of Bundles for America will present each of the service men with a Christmas stocking. Along with it will go a holiday greeting and a wish for the best of luck wherever they may be sent to help keep freedom alive in the world.

M.E. missionary circle meets

The Missionary Circle of the Methodist church met on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Ray Hayes, with Mrs. Herman Meyer in charge of the Christmas program. Following the business meeting and social hour the hostess served refreshments.

Theta Chi see Santa at Rinkers

The Beta Chapter of Theta Chi Sorority, met on Monday evening at the home of its president, Mrs. Irving Rinker.

The occasion was the annual Christmas party. Bridge was the diversion of the evening, and the members enjoyed a gift exchange.

A midnight lunch was served in the festively decorated rooms, where a Christmas tree and lighted tapers lent a holiday air.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ward of Oak Park and Mr. T. J. Alberg and Jack Alberg and Jim, and Miss Aileen Barrett of Chicago, were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Everett.

P E O Xmas party Monday at Grose home

The P.E.O. Sisterhood met on Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Jack Grose where the group enjoyed a Christmas program presented by Mrs. Nicholas Lattot, who formerly lived in the Holy Land.

Following the program, a gift exchange was held around the Christmas tree, and the hostess served refreshments in keeping with the season.

Among the college students home for the holidays are Beulah Burkitt, from White Water, Wis., Sunday dinner guests in the home and James Jirak from Monmouth College.

The Spirit of Christmas

WHEN you think of it, Christmas comes seldom enough . . . a night and a day once a year, and it's all over.

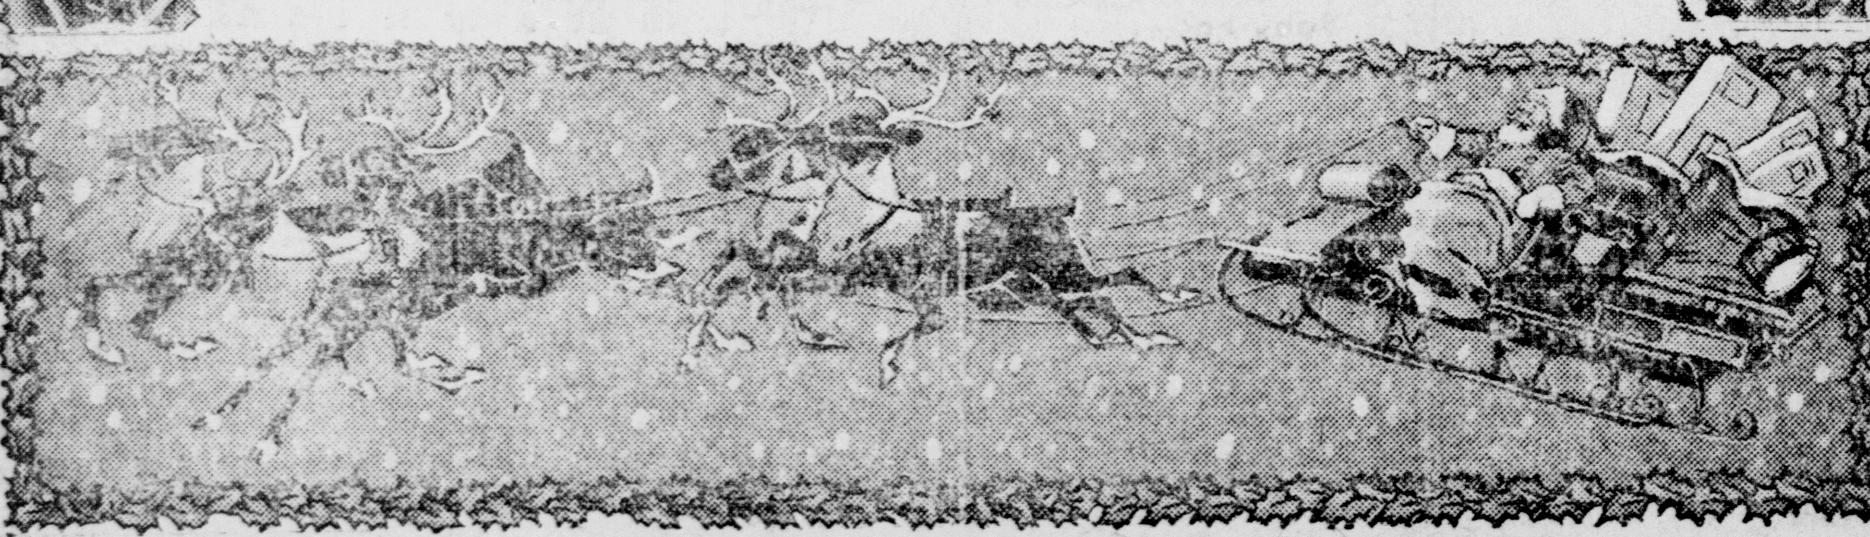

But does the Spirit of Christmas pass as quickly as that? Surely nobody likes to think so. The whole of Christmas is certainly not contained in the space of twenty-four hours, quickly passed and soon forgotten.

Quite the opposite is true. The Spirit of Christmas lives on through the year and through the years . . . yes, even through the centuries. It's the spirit of friendliness that finds expression in every thought, word, and deed, every minute of the day, every day of the year, every year of our lives.

It's the Spirit of Christmas that prompts an interest in the happiness and well-being of others . . . that brings mankind closer together in the bounds of brotherly love and tolerance, peace and good will.

So the Spirit of Christmas moves us to send this word of friendly greeting to you.

Christian Scientists aid in war relief

The Christian Science War Relief Committee of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, which was established in September 1940, has recently released its second annual report. This shows that it now has more than 1500 branch units active in the United States of America besides many more in Great Britain, Canada, Australia, and the Union of South Africa.

The Committee has assembled since Pearl Harbor over 66,000 pounds of durable clothing and bedding, in waterproof, mothproof, wooden cases, at convenient locations on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, ready for instant use should emergencies arise because of local enemy action.

More than 32,800 garments have been distributed, through military distribution centres, to men in the United States forces. A large British transport vessel which had arrived from tropical waters and was being repaired at Boston received 100 overcoats for officers. Folding cots have been given to overcrowded seamen's clubs. Civilians arriving in the United States suffering because of war conditions or action have been provided with clothing and other forms of relief. Among them are refugees from the Far East, who landed in California; and merchant seamen rescued from ships torpedoed along the Atlantic coast have been similarly cared for. This work is carried on by the Committee without regard to creed or race.

One of the most impressive branches of the work from the start, before America entered the war, has been the distribution of clothing and comforts to bombed-out people in Great Britain and to refugees from Holland, Norway, Russia, Poland, Belgium, and other European countries. Clothing has gone direct from Boston to Russia, and knitted goods have been sent there from branches of the Committee in England. One example is the preparation, within six weeks, of 1820 knitted garments for the Russians. Overseas workers have won the commendation and co-operation of local authorities by their prompt arrival on the scene of trouble. In cities heavily bombed, such as Plymouth, Coventry, Bristol, and Southampton, they have got there with food and clothing, ready to go to work, even before the "All Clear" sounded.

The wide range of the distribution is indicated in the annual report from the United Kingdom. One worker reports that an English physician, "totally bombed," was fitted out with suitable professional clothing by the almoner. A Scottish centre states that Commandos who at one time raided the Norwegian islands were equipped on the expedition with comforts from Boston, and that the centre provided clothing for the refugees whom the Commandos brought back.

Throughout the entire Christian Science movement workers are making and collecting clothing of all kinds and sending it to the depots, where it is carefully inspected, sorted and packed in waterproof cases for shipment. One of the most recent of the Committee's activities has been the sending of weekly food packages to British prisoners of war in Germany and Italy. This can be done according to the Geneva Convention. Only an occasional package has gone astray. Correspondence has been started with many of the prisoners and with their families in England. Some packages have been sent to civilians in Occupied France. It has not been possible to reach prisoners in the Far East.

Figures presented for the two-year period ending the first of October, this year, include over 1,000,000 pounds of clothing and bedding sent to the British Isles, more than 8,700 pounds to Russia, and more than 10,500 pounds to Finland, previous to that country's alliance with the Axis.

The yearly shipment to England from the Boston depot alone has totaled between 4,000 and 5,000 crates, each containing about 200 garments. The loss in shipping has been negligible. During the first year of the Committee's operation at least 30,000 people in Great Britain received clothing, food or other comforts, and about 240 were assisted financially. In addition to shipments from the four depots in the States — at Boston, New York, Los Angeles, and Portland, Oregon — crates have gone forth from Christian Science workers in Canada, Australia, and South Africa. In Great Britain alone 300 almoners have been at work distributing relief.

The total value of material in clothing distributed is estimated at $1,533,300. In addition to this money gifts have been sent to China and other needy countries, and three motorized canteens have been sent to England; they are located in London, Sheffield, and Rochester.

The Committee is ready to aid in relieving human suffering caused by war wherever it can; and it co-operates with many other officially recognized relief agencies when sudden needs arise, readily contributing whatever of its supplies are available.

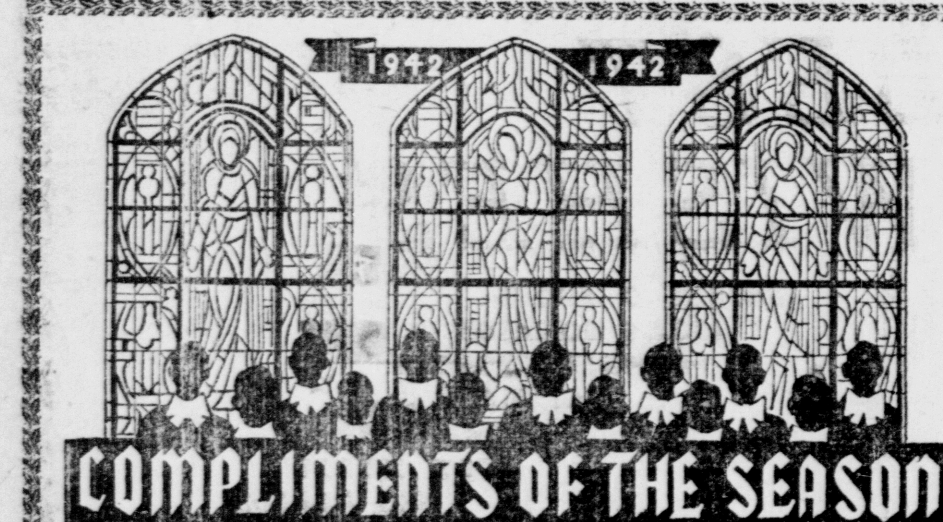

To all our old friends and acquaintances, and also to the many fine new ones we have made during 1942, we send sincere Christmas greetings and the wish that the holidays will be as happy as possible.

READING & WRITING BY Edwin Searer and Robin McKoun

ONE of our popular radio entertainers recently told an amusing story about his Currier & Ives prints. His grandfather, he said, had left him a lot of them up in the attic. "What did you do with them?" he was asked. "Oh I got rid of the prints," he said. "But I kept the frames."

NATHANIEL CURRIER

"Currier & Ives—Printmakers to the American People," edited by Harry T. Peters.

There wasn't any Life Magazine in those days — remember Currier & Ives started their joint career almost a century ago. The Currier & Ives prints were the picture magazine of their day. They ranged the gamut of our national life from sensational fires to daughter's best beau, ships' sinkings and sleighrides, train wrecks and fashions. If you want to know what went on in those dear, dead days beyond recall, just curl up with a collection of Currier & Ives prints.

Contrary to general impression, neither of the partners, Nathaniel Currier nor James Merritt Ives, did the art work for the prints—though Ives had had some art training. They employed a large staff of artists—some of the best known of the time—among them, Louis Maurer, Thomas Worth, Arthur Fitzwilliam Tait, and Fanny Palmer. Miss Palmer's story is particularly interesting. In the days when well-bred women did not generally work for a living, she for years did exacting, full-time work in order to support a large family.

JAMES MERRITT IVES

T. R. Ybarra, whose new book, "Young Man of the World," takes up the story of his life from where his last year's hilarious best-seller, "Young Man of Caracas" left off, says that one of his most interesting newspaper interviews was the one he had with Archduke Otto of Austria in 1936. The Nazi censors crossed out several lines of that famous interview having to do with Hitler. Here's what they cut out: Leaning eagerly toward him, Otto had said: "Have you ever read 'Mein Kampf'? I tried to read it once. But I couldn't get to the end of it. Do you suppose anybody in any part of the world, ever read the whole of it?"

The Council of Books in Wartime, which is comprised of publishers, booksellers and librarians, have announced that their first "I" book is "They Were Expendable" by W. L. White. "I" stands for Imperative, and just as the Navy awards an "E" for efficiency to a manufacturing plant, so the Council of Books in Wartime has now adopted the letter "I" for books that represent important contributions to the war effort.

Christmas fire hazards

by RICHARD JAHN
Fire Chief

Christmas trees and the decorations are fire hazards which must be watched most carefully. When a tree is brought into the house it is obviously going to dry up. A freshly-cut tree has about the same fire hazard during the first day or two that the same type of evergreen has while growing, but it becomes a more serious fire hazard every hour. At the end of a week, it will be highly combustible. It is best to bring in a fresh tree as short as possible and to remove it soon afterwards. If this is done ordinary precautions should prevent it from taking fire.

The tree can be kept fresh if set up in a pan of water. The tree should be cut off at the base at an angle and at least one inch above the original cut. It should be kept standing in water during the entire period that it is in the house with water being added at intervals to keep the water level above the cut. This method when used with fresh trees reduces the flammability as effectively as any fireproofing chemicals. Chemicals may cause the tree to turn brown or yellow or lose its needles. The place selected for the tree should be well away from stoves, radiators, and other sources of heat.

The tree should be well secured against falling and be so placed that whether standing or fallen it cannot block a doorway that might be needed as an exit from the room.

The candle is found on Christmas trees more rarely every year, but none the less it is used unwisely in many places during the Christmas season. Open flame lighting is entirely out of place in the home unless candles and lamps are set well away from the Christmas trees, curtains, and flammable decorations. Electric lights provide a safer means of illumination. Nevertheless it is important that Christmas lights be in good condition. A short circuit in worn wiring can be sufficient to start a tree burning. Electrical lighting sets and decorations bearing markings indicating listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc., have been tested against fire hazards. In addition, old equipment should be carefully inspected annually to see that all connections are tight and that wires are not frayed. Particular care must be exercised during the holiday season not to overload the individual wiring circuits and to make sure that proper fuses are used to safeguard against a chance overload. It is better where necessary to eliminate some of the lights rather than to use a fuse with a larger rating because an overloaded circuit without proper fusing is likely to start a fire in the walls. Be careful of heat operated toys and new electrical gadgets if they do not bear markings indicating listing by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

Elaborate decorations may prove a very serious hazard unless incombustible materials are used. Flammable materials can be purchased at many stores. Insist on them. In addition, glass, asbestos, and other non-combustible decorations are available nearly everywhere and are as attractive as those of paper, cotton, and pyroxylin. Cotton batting and paper costumes will also ignite easily and burn with great rapidity. Combustible Santa Claus' whiskers or costumes have caused many a Christmas fire tragedy.

Few homes in area now under construction

Continued decline in home building is again evident in the Bell savings report for November of this year. As announced last week, Mt. Prospect building included 3 homes, value $16,200; and Des Plaines 1, $4,125.

All other figures included garages only: Arlington Heights 190, Bensenville $550, Niles $200, Palatine $750 and Skokie $1,782. Glenview, Morton Grove, Northbrook and Northfield registered zero. Prospect Heights is not included in the survey.

Higher wages for Santa Claus

Wages for Santa Claus in 1942 may be higher than his wages in 1941 without constituting a violation of the wage stabilization rules and regulations issued from Washington. So says the War Labor Board in a release dated December 4. However, it adds a proviso. It wants to be sure that he is in truth and in fact a real Santa Claus and so it adds this proviso: "Provided that the term Santa Claus shall be construed to include only such persons as wear a red robe, white whiskers, and other well recognized accoutrements befitting their station in life, and provided they have a jovial and kindly disposition and use their high office of juvenile trust to spread the Christmas spirit of good will among all men, women and children." At last, Washington has taken over Saint Nick.

Arlington boy called to Army air service

David E. Wilson, 19 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wilson, 529 Banbury rd., Arlington Heights, has reported for service in the army air corps at Santa Ana, California. He enlisted last June and was not called to service until December 8.

Families of the Mt. Prospect area who have men in service are asked to bring pictures to the Mt. Prospect bank where they can be made a part of the window display for that purpose.

Henry Langrehr, a life time resident of Palatine, died Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Petrine Mork

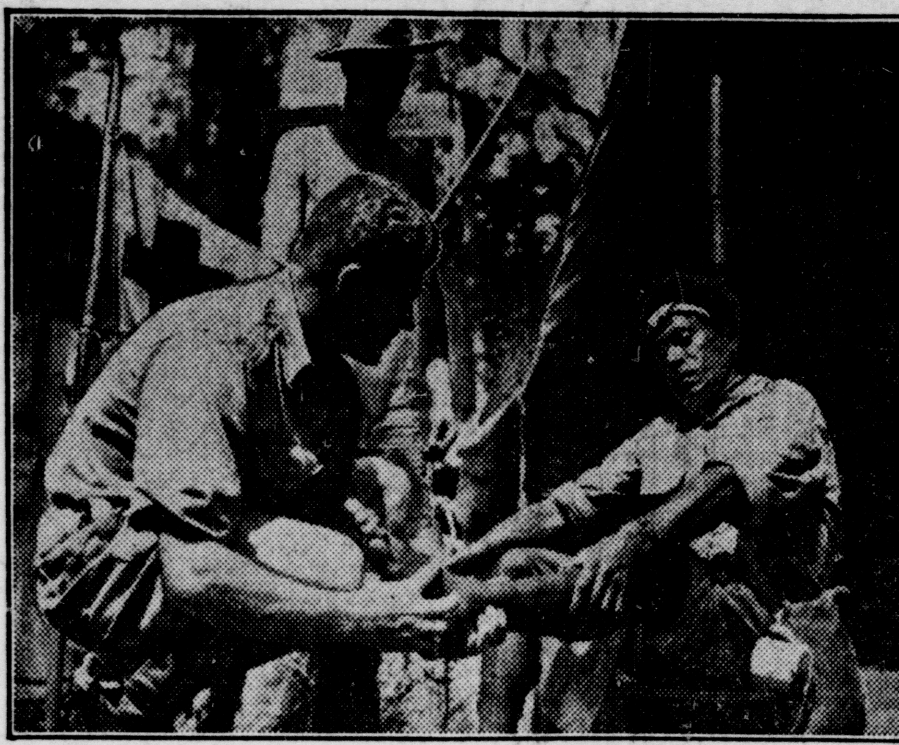

Final rites were held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the funeral home, 111 W. Campbell st., Arlington Heights, for Mrs. Petrine Mork of Lake Villa. Interment was Monday at Mt. Olive.

She was the wife of the late Peter Mork, and she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Carlsen, of 37 S. Mitchell st., Arlington Heights.

Another Game

A few years ago Private Charles Wry was a member of the Army All-Star baseball team in the Philippines and he pitched a game against a Japanese team in Tokyo. Private Wry recalled that the Japanese batter would step to the plate, bow gracefully to the catcher, then to the pitcher. No doubt he was hoping to get an easy one. Now Private Wry hopes to toss a few more against the Japanese, but this time he's thinking in terms of hand grenades—not baseballs!

"Boss Boy" Must Carry On

One of the important links in the Allied drive against the Japs in New Guinea is the native carrier. Without the aid of these "boys" who carry ammunition and supplies over the jungle and mountain trails, the advance would be well nigh impossible. The natives have caught the spirit of the fighting and are doing a magnificent job. They must be kept fit and therefore are subject to medical inspection at posts set up in the forward areas. Here Corporal McNicol, Australian Medical orderly, is ministering to a "Boss Boy," a typical example of the highly intelligent Papuan.

Wheeling Red Cross surgical unit to meet

Thirty women met at Wheeling school last Thursday to begin work on the making of surgical dressings. Chairman, Mrs. Phil Doetsch, co-chairman, Mrs. Merle Willis, Mrs. John Nielsen and Miss Anna Doetsch were the instructors, having themselves received instruction at Evanston unit the previous week.

A quota of 4,000 dressings has been given to the unit and as the work is very exacting, many volunteers will be needed to complete the work on time. Arrangements have been made to provide heat for the room one day between the holidays which will be next Monday, December 28.

Ladies, please plan your work so that you can give as much time that day to this worthy work. Plans are also being made for a home nursing course. Watch for further announcement and call Mrs. John Nielsen for more information.

Ladies Pinochle club met with Mrs. Charles Becker last week to enjoy their regular evening of cards and to celebrate their hostess' birthday. Mrs. John Schmidt and Mrs. Fred Moeller won the prizes of the evening.

Jack Bellmore, U.S.N. called on Wheeling relatives last week while home on furlough. Mr. Bellmore, who is a veteran of World War I, re-enlisted in the Navy several months ago, and holds the rank of Petty Officer 1st class. He has been assigned to a new destroyer now operating from an Atlantic base and is scheduled for an advancement as he takes up his duties there.

The Mother's club held their Christmas meeting last Wednesday with Mrs. William Schwalb. Instead of their customary program, the afternoon was spent in playing games. Mothers and children exchanged gifts and had a happy time together.

Warren Person came from Marion, Alabama, to spend his Christmas vacation at home. Warren is a student at Marion Institute, a military school and is scheduled to return on December 28, unless he is called to the Navy, in which he enlisted some time ago.

Mrs. Lincoln R. Clark, Jr., and baby girl, Katherine Ellen, will be spending the holidays with her sister's family, the Victor Habens. Their Christmas will be a much happier one because of the telegram received by Mrs. Clark from the War Department last week, stating that her husband, Lt. Lincoln Clark, was alive and well, a prisoner of the Japs on the Philippines. This was the family's first assurance that Lt. Clark had survived the siege of Bataan and Corregidor.

Seek name for three cent piece

What would you call a 3c piece for short? Congress has authorized the Treasury Department to coin 3c pieces if it determines the need for it and doubtless the need will arise in order to save precious metals. We now have 3c stamps, 3c newspapers, 18c cigarettes and a host of items which would make a 3c piece convenient. A 3c piece might challenge the ingenuity of name-coiners for an adequate name to go along with penny, nickel and dime. The last 3c pieces were made in 1890. What would you call it?

U. S. to buy more trailers

Tire and rubber shortages at first impelled the Federal Public Housing Administration to curtail its program for the purchase of trailers but as acute housing shortages began to appear in various sections of the country, it was determined to purchase an additional 5,000 trailers in November, 2500 in December and 2500 in January. If the program is completed, it will mean that the FHFA and other housing agencies of the government will have purchased a total of 30,000 trailers.

Raise tuition at Des Plaines grade school

Actual and expected influx of workers and their families for the rapid constructed Douglas aircraft plant has forced board members of one Des Plaines school to raise tuition rates from a former $50 to $100.

The grammar school is the institution raising the rate for "out of town students." Board members state "when just one or two students were involved, $50 was o. k., though additional cost per student was well over that figure. Now, however, with many more children added to the attendance rolls, a more detailed study of actual costs must be made. It is believed the $100 figure will cover the cost satisfactorily."

TO ALL OUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

During these chaotic times when all the world is stricken and so many hearts are heavy, let us observe our Christmas in the same spirit of reverence and humility that we have done through the years.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Mary:

At the risk of appearing callous, in this year of war and suffering for the peoples of the world, I write you as usual my Christmas letter. . . . Dave and I believe that as long as there are children there will be Christmas joy. . . . after all, one of the reasons we're fighting this war is to be sure our children will be able to celebrate Christmas as a day of PEACE and GOOD WILL, isn't it? . . . I hope you will not think I'm being too much of a Pollyanna when I say that one of the good things that may come out of the war will be really making Christmas the children's day. . . . right now, with our money going into war bonds there will be less buying of extravagant gifts for adults. . . . what with gas rationing, coffee shortage, etc., we'll have to stay at home with the children instead of gadding about to make merry with the grown ups. . . . dear me, I sound as though I were standing in a pulpit instead of sitting here at my desk. . . .

How can I brood over the siege of Tunis, when Davy and Louis are like two innocent happy puppies simply brimming over with joyful anticipation of Santa Claus' visit? . . . every night we're re-reading Clement Moore's "The Night Before Christmas. . . . I must confess that even now that poem brings back to me as nothing else can the special thrilling happiness of Christmas that only children can experience. . . . then something amusing happens around here nearly every day. . . . we have to smile even though we've just been thinking of the Solomon Islands. . . . for instance Estelle has been using Santa Claus' displeasure with only mediocre success to cure Louis of his habit of sucking his thumb. . . . Yesterday, when she caught him at it, she went to the fireplace and pretended to peer up the chimney. . . . "Take that thumb out quick, Louis, I see Santy peeping down at you!" she said. . . . Louis took it out just long enough to remark, "Dod Damn ole chimney!" . . . then I haven't much time to be melancholy, because I'm frantically searching for "a big twuk with bawels in it" . . . what in the world do you suppose gave Louis the idea of wanting a truck with barrels in it? . . . there doesn't seem to be such a thing on the market. . . .

Our Christmas cards are beginning to come. . . . you'd smile if you could be here when the mailman rings, to see how excited we all get. . . . Dave and I get a childish pleasure out of reading our Christmas cards. . . . this is the one time in the year when we hear from some of our old friends who live in other cities. . . . Dave will open one and say, "Oh! here's a card from the Jones' . . . did you write them?" . . . this, in spite of the fact that only last night I finished the last of my Christmas notes and that he read them and sealed them for me. . . . speaking of the notes, you'll get a chuckle out of this. . . . when Dave placed the last one on the hall table to be mailed, he remarked, "Darling the sentiments expressed in these are fine but I'm afraid I found hardly a one in which there wasn't at least one misspelled word." . . . "But," says I, cismayed, "why did you seal them then?" . . . "Why didn't you let me correct them?" . . . "What?" he replied, "and have our friends thinking you employed a secretary to write your notes this year. No, my no, without at least one example of your unique method of spelling folks would suspect them of not being genuine." . . . ah me.

We'll be thinking of all of you during the holidays. . . . picturing how lovely it will be out there at Hill Top. . . . especially if we have a "White Christmas!" . . . I'm thinking of the delicious odors that will come from that big old kitchen. . . . of how red Jack's cheeks will be when he comes in from the barn after a visit to Daisy June and Clementine. . . . of Bob equally rosy as he pulls George and Edward on their sled. . . . of Rob at his annual wrestle with the electric trains. . . . and yes, of your dear self bustling about with time and thought for every one. . . . most of all, I'm thinking of the genuine warmth and delight with which you'll greet old friends as they come to call. . . . oh! they'll come. . . . as gas rationing or not, somehow they'll manage it. . . . for you're one of those rare persons who can make every one just a little jollier and happier for being around you. . . .

A card has just arrived from Dave's cousin, Bob. . . . he's with the Navy "somewhere in the Pacific." . . . I say, Dave's cousin, by way of identification because you've never met him. . . . but we're all so fond of him that I think of him as my cousin, too. . . . it's the first communication we've received from anyone overseas so we're very interested and proud. . . . there's no stamp on it only a big black circle with the words US Navy in it. . . . down in the other corner is another black circle containing the words PASSED BY NAVAL CENSOR, and some one's initials. . . . inside is a card the photograph of a native girl dancing on some sunny beach under huge palms. . . . on the back of the card Bob says he can tell us very little. . . . only that he's south of the Equator and on an island. . . . he says the food is good. . . . and that he's well. . . . there's also a folder of thinnest tissue paper on which is printed Merry Christmas and Happy New Year. . . . inside Bob writes

"For us it's Foreign Lands and faces
Strange customs for this Christmas Day
But my greetings to you are sent
In this good old American Way."

So maybe it's not callous for us here at home to celebrate Christmas in the "good old American way." . . . perhaps preserving all of our old customs so that the boys can look forward to coming home to them is one slight way in which we too can serve. . . . therefore, as always, I send you the same old wishes for a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Eleanore.

At Least Six Months

Green, freshly cut wood usually requires six months to a year of seasoning before it makes satisfactory fuel. For rapid drying, the wood should be stacked in a fairly dry location where it is exposed to sun and wind. Large pieces should be split. It is important to cut an adequate fuel-wood supply at least one year ahead of time.

Miss Huck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Huck, Creekside Farm, Palatine, is a graduate of New Trier high school. She later attended Wellesley College, Wellesley, Massachusetts, and is now enrolled in the School of Education. She is a member of Alpha Phi social sorority.

STILL NO ACTION ON CITY OF DES PLAINES 'SIGN FEE DEFAULTERS'

Still no action has been taken with regard to intended suit brought against 35 local businessmen for failure to pay sign fees.

The case has been argued pro and con, disclosing many interesting conflicting reports. The "35 local" turns out to be but five members of the business men's association. It is alleged that special reductions were given one large outside firm, while no reductions have been given local merchants.

It is also asserted that numerous business men are anxious to test the validity of the ordinance in court.

Hotel chain sends 40,000 war stamps to its customers

Forty thousand patrons of the Pick Hotels will receive an unusual Christmas greeting from their host this year. Combining Christmas the war effort, it was announced by the war effort, it was announced by Albert Pick, Jr., today, that each guest would receive a war savings stamp book, with the first twenty-five cent stamp affixed. The Albert Pick Hotels, Inc., operating 15 hotels in the middle west, feel that each of the 40,000 guests receiving this greeting, will purchase additional war savings stamps to fill the book. Thus, the war effort will benefit to the extent of $750,000.00.

Although this represents an expenditure of $10,000.00, Albert Pick, Jr. feels it is a direct contribution to the war and that it will stimulate additional war bond sales.

CITY EMPLOYEES MAY GET RAISES SOON AT DES PLAINES

While the Des Plaines city council is having plenty of trouble with their next year's budget, it is rumored that all city employees are due for a 10 or 20 per cent raise. Decreased revenue, license fees, etc., and increased costs make the amount of the raise doubtful. But competition with high wages of the nearby Douglas plant make these increases necessary.

Palatine noses out Bronchos 32-30 in double overtime

MAC SAYS:

by GERALD A. McILROY

Prospects that sports in the high schools of this area will be conducted the rest of the school year about as normal seems assured by the order of the OPA office that all officials and salaried coaches are eligible for "B" ration books. If the coaches are willing to use their own cars to transport players the athletic program will continue. Most coaches will use their cars as they realize the importance in the war effort of competitive athletics. The decision to give coaches extra gas makes the action of the Northeast and Northwest conferences in dropping league activities entirely unnecessary. We are in hopes that a conference track meet and conference football will be planned for 1943 as it should.

Senior boys in high school will almost all be subject to the draft by the end of next summer. Most high school seniors are eighteen or will approach that age by the end of the year. In order to prepare these young men for their war time responsibilities, all should be given physical education every day in the week and in addition all should take part in intramural or interscholastic sports through the winter and spring months.

According to reports coming from the Office of Education in Washington, there is to be a change in school physical education. We quote portions of an article dealing with this question as follows:

The idea is primarily to increase the time and the strenuousness of the present physical education program. In recent years, the emphasis has been on "recreational exercise." It has been all easy come, easy go and let's have fun.

If the high schools follow the suggestions of the Office of Education, all that is going overboard. Physical fitness will become a part of the total war effort. Physical education will be "glamorized" in terms of modern warfare. There will be daily periods of "gym" equal in length to other subject periods. After a month or more of daily conditioning in good old-fashioned calisthenics the students will be asked to jump into about 10 hours a week additional of competitive sports, mass athletics, week end camping.

Will Increase Hours

Ultimately this 10 hours of extra-curricular activity would be increased to 15 a week, with such things as woodcraft, camp craft, swimming, aviation ground schools and gliding in the regular routine.

All of this has grown out of the Army reports on selectees. American youth, the Army says, is generally lacking in "ability to live comfortably and safely in open country"—is lacking in strength, endurance, stamina and body coordination.

Other things had to be held up, while the Army youngsters were being taught to climb a rope, carry burdens equal to their own weight, vault out of trenches, swim long distances, fully clothed and with additional weights. (equipment), walk and run 10 miles in two hours, jump and fall without injury, march a mile in 12 minutes, and lift a person near their own weight off the floor and carry him 20 yards in eight seconds.

Ela at Arlington Wednesday

Only three games will be played over the holiday period among the schools of this area outside of the McHenry county tournament. Tuesday of this week Palatine traveled to Antioch and was very much the underdog. In fact Antioch was so much the favorite that a defeat for them on their own court would have been a decided upset. On Wednesday it is Ela at Arlington with the Cardinals having their best chance to cash in on a victory. The Cards are very much over due. They have played best against the best teams and the result no victories. The other game will find Niles at Waukegan a week from Wednesday. After a one point victory over Evanston it looks like the Niles Trojans have hit their stride.

Good Tourney At Woodstock

The McHenry county tournament to be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday next week should be a good one. Woodstock, the host school, has an outstanding club this year. Crystal Lake is much better than usual and of course Hebron with all their champion team of last year will be the favorite for the fourth straight year.

Lights lose to visitors in close game

Clarence Herr made good on two free throws in the second overtime period to give Palatine a 32-30 victory over Barrington Friday night after Norman Harris had tied up the ball game with a field goal in the last 10 seconds of the regular playing time. Barrington nosed out the Palatine lights 13-12 to gain an even break for the evening.

Both games Friday were close all the way, but the display of basketball shooting by both schools was of the most inaccurate variety. Palatine's varsity victory was the seventh defeat in a row they have incurred on Barrington over a four year period and the tenth in the last eleven meetings of the two schools.

Good Game First Half

The varsity game started as a free scoring affair with Palatine taking a 12-10 lead at the quarter and 22-20 at the half. Thereafter both teams shot and played wildly, getting nowhere in the point column by accumulating a plentiful number of personal fouls. Right at the start of the third quarter Harris drove in for a basket and Wolter of Barrington duplicated. Then for minutes neither team could hit from the field. The score was tied starting the final period 24 all and with two minutes to go Miller of Barrington scored to give the Bronchos a 28-26 advantage. Finally when all hope was gone for Palatine as Barrington brought the ball up court with 10 seconds to play Harris tipped a Broncho pass and drove almost the length of the floor to save the game for Palatine. He was fouled in the attempt but missed the try for the winning point.

Free Throws Save Day for Pirates

In the first overtime Stinson scored two free throws but with five seconds to go Weber of Barrington saved things temporarily for Barrington by hitting from the center of the court. Herr replaced Harris for Palatine in the second overtime due to personal fouls and his two free throws with 10 seconds remaining in the second overtime provided the winning point.

Harris had 12 points to lead the winning Pirates while Howes had seven and Stinson five. Wolter scored eight and Dewitz and Miller had six apiece for Barrington. Palatine made only 10 out of 80 shots and Barrington nine out of 63. Palatine made only two baskets in the 22 minutes of the second half and overtime periods while attempting 44 field goal shots. Both teams were penalized 21 times, and both made 12 free throws. Cramer, the only Pirate to play the whole game did a great job at guard.

Lights Do Not Click

The lightweight game was poorly played on both sides, both from the standpoint of passing and shooting. Both teams put up a pretty good defense. Neither could hit free throws. The score by quarters found Barrington leading by one point at each intermission, 3-2, 7-6, 12-11. Both teams could tally but one point in the last quarter in which Palatine missed six and Barrington seven free throws. Prow of Barrington and Oltendorf of Palatine scored six points and were the best performers. Oltendorf also played the last quarter and both overtimes in the varsity game and gave a sparkling performance. Herr who scored no points and went out on fouls in the lightweight game redeemed himself somewhat by getting the winning points in the varsity game.

Bisons drop close game to Alumni

by WALTER TETT

Bensenville's cage stars of other years beat the Bison varsity team Friday night 38-36. The number of alumni available was very limited, but the grads put up a great game. The school lightweight beat the alumni lights 38-13 in the preliminary.

The high school five was minus the services of Miller, their tall center, whose pass work was missed. Tett took his place at center and Bornaack moved up to forward to team with Benham while Kernats and Jakers took over the guard positions. Tett scored 18 points to lead the Bisons while Glanz Dierking of the U. S. Navy and Buman of last year's team were Alumni leaders with 10 and 12 points respectively.

The Alumni were in front all the way in a game which was the fastest and one of the closest played at Bensenville in years. The Alumni led by the quarters 10-8, 19-17, and 30-25. They showed that they still have the winning spirit and that's what Uncle Sam can surely use in the coming months.

Buman scored 16 points of which 11 were in the last quarter as the Bison Lights played their best game of the season to whip the Alumni reserves 38-13.

Woodstock five outplays fighting Cardinals, 48-33

Arlington alumni succumb to tall Palatine squad

by JOE SMART

Arlington tried vainly on the local court for its first win of the year Friday, but Woodstock's strong second half rally brought the Cards their fifth straight defeat, 48-33. In the second game of the double header the Palatine alumni whipped the Arlington alumni 43-26. The ex-Pirates' height was just too much for the former Cards, after they had built up a 7-5 lead at the first quarter.

Brewer led off with a basket for Woodstock, but Coleman immediately matched it, only to lose the lead on O'Brien's free throw. The Cards went ahead on Kleiner's basket, but Garbe came right back with one and the Streak's led 5-4. Kleiner then dropped two free throws, but Schimmel countered with his first of seven baskets and O'Brien dropped another free throw. Kleiner then hit another free throw marker but baskets by Phillips and Schimmel gave the Streak's a 12-7 lead at the quarter.

The visitors went into a long lead on baskets by Westphal and Brien with the latter adding a free throw, as the second quarter began. Hodges and Peeters hit baskets, and Aldrich and Peeters dropped free throws while O'Brien hit a one-hander for the Streaks. Phillips and O'Brien hit for Woodstock, only to be matched by two close-in shots by Coleman. Phillips made a charity toss, but was covered by Hodges' basket and Coleman's free throw as the half ended. At this point the Streak's led 24-20.

Coleman notched the Cards only three baskets in the third quarter and McWharther sank a free toss. The Streaks built up a sizeable lead of 37-27 as the quarter ended. During this period Schimmel sank three, O'Brien a one and one, and Yates and Garbe each a basket. The visitors stretched their lead in the fourth period and finished with a 48-33 victory. Westphal hit two free throws, Peeters one basket, and Aldrich's one charity. While Peeters finished the Cards room on the sinking craft by crawling through a shattered window.

Ration Provisions

After the fourth day, they began to resign themselves to whatever fate awaited them, and food and water was severely rationed, only 6 1/2 ounces of water being allowed a man per day. Attempts were made to distill their own water by a home made distilling contraption, rigged up by two kerosene lanterns and some rubber tubing. The result, however, was a failure, and a fire started in the boat when the lamps toppled over, soon causing them to end the experiment.

Day after day went by, and the men grew weaker constantly under the blazing sun. Along about the tenth day a large bomber flew over them so close that they could almost have hit it with a sling shot. Hope then rose in their hearts, but after more agonizing waiting, no help arrived in any form.

By this time, the 29 men would have welcomed any kind of ship even a Jap vessel, but nothing even appeared on the horizon. On the tenth day, the only member of the party to die from the experience, succumbed, and was buried at sea. This incident seemed to change their luck, if you can call it that, and late that afternoon, land was sighted. It required three days of rowing and struggling to make that land, and on the thirteenth day, their boat washed up on the beach of what later proved to be New Caledonia.

Utterly exhausted, the men sprawled out on the sand, and when they awoke themselves later, found a native with eight dogs watching them. After considerable difficulty in making the native understand their plight, a second native who owned some horses arrived and the strongest man in their party was taken on horseback to a small camp some 20 miles inland. Ultimately Army jeeps made their way through to the beach, and after several trips, the entire 28 men arrived at a base camp and received care and medical aid. Later on they were flown by transport planes to a main base and as soon as it was possible to be moved, were placed aboard a hospital ship and brought back to the United States.

Not long after their boat sank, sharks began following their small boat attracted by the smell of blood from a badly cut arm which one member received when he was forced to smash his way out of a scoring with one and one, Schimmel hit two, Yates one, and Hogan a gift for Woodstock. The game ended with O'Brien dropping two free throws.

With Coleman again leading the Cards in all departments the Arlington boys played their best game of the season, but Woodstock was just too good. Pacing the Streaks were Schimmel and O'Brien who each made fourteen points. The game was cleanly played and well officiated.

With Millay leading the way, the ex-Cards took a lead of 7-5 over the Palatine alumni in the nightcap. The score see-sawed in the second quarter until Palatine took the lead 16-14. Here they built up a lead of 22-14 at the half, which they never relinquished. After this controlled the rebounds at both ends of the floor. Throughout the last half Palatine incessantly bombarded the basket. The ex-Cards lost Millay in the third period on fouls, and the score stood 35-19 starting the last segment. The ex-Pirates again dominated the play in the last quarter, the final being 48-26.

Millay led the Arlington boys with eight points. Becker, usually a high scorer, was held to three baskets. Palatine was well led by Nangle and Hahnfeldt who dropped ten points apiece.

Louisiana

Lewis G. Helm, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Helm, 609 N. Dunton ave., Arlington Heights, former football player with the Arlington Heights township high school and Louisiana College teams, met with former brother football playing cadets at the Pre-flight school, Seman Field, Monroe, Louisiana, the other day.

Although they have many football teams, cadets at the Pre-flight school don't get a chance to play, as they are too busy learning now to navigate bombs and cargo planes "there and back" to take time out for practice.

Mrs. Fred Vogt, Mrs. Leon Andersen, and Mrs. Walter Schindler, of Palatine, were glad to be able to wish their brother, Sgt. August G. Reuter, of Barrington, a Merry Christmas in person this year. Gus is now home on leave looking fine. Only complaint is the weather, which is a bit colder than they have at Camp Polk, Louisiana, where he has been stationed since he entered Uncle Sam's armed forces in July, 1941.

Egypt

"From the Middle East comes a wish: That in spite of war, may your heart this Christmas season be filled with peace and joy - and like the vastness of the sky, may your health and happiness be boundless throughout the New Year." Thus "cards" S/Sgt. Geo. Weisgerber of Arlington Heights in greetings from his station in Egypt. His address is 82nd squadron, 12th Bomb Gp., A.P.O. 789, P.O. 1, New York City, N. Y.

Oklahoma

"Thanks a lot for the money order," writes Edward Peters of Arlington Heights in appreciation for the traveling bank. "It'll come in handy this Christmas. Wish I could be home to thank all of you folks in person. You know, it's a lot easier for us here at camp to know the folks back home are behind us. Here's wishing you a Merry Christmas."

No. Carolina

Pvt. George Winkelman of Arlington Heights is home enjoying a fourteen day furlough from training at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. George is stationed with the 41st glider infantry, 101st division.

Texas

Pfc. Delbert Sears, of Mt. Prospect, formerly employed by the Chicago Rivet Company, of Maywood, was inducted into the army July 21 at Fort Sheridan. He received his basic training at Camp Swift, Texas, where he received a medal for winning 2nd place in the sharp shooter's class.

He is at present at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, where he is receiving his advanced training with the Engineer's Battalion, and is attending N.C.O. school working toward a promotion.

Private Sears married Miss Theresa Kroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kroll of Mt. Prospect on June 6, 1942. Mrs. Sears is continuing with her work at the Mt. Prospect State Bank while her husband is away. He is hoping to spend the holidays in Mt. Prospect.

Guadalcanal

A letter received from PFC. James Updekel of Wheeling, last week, revealed that he is one of the Marines on Guadalcanal Island. This was the first time Jim could reveal his location since leaving the states in February. Jim says that he is well and he has many Jap souvenirs which he hopes to bring home some day.

Bermuda

John Scanlon, U.S.N. of Wheeling, is now stationed at the Naval Air Station at Bermuda. He writes that they are having fine weather and that they are enjoying a daily swim in the ocean.

Australia

The following is a letter received from Lt. Alec Tudyman, of Palatine, who is "somewhere in Australia."

Dear Folks and All:
At last I have another chance to write to you. Since I last wrote, I've been quite busy as you might guess, but I'm in the best of health and hope that this finds all of you the same.

I'm gradually getting used to this place, but there are so many things about it that are so different from the States. The biggest adjustment that I had to make was the money angle. It is the same as England's. They use pounds, shillings and pence. But no one has cheated us thus far. The street cars are all open ones and they refer to them as trams. The fare is 3 cents. All of the traffic is opposite to ours and even their steering wheels are the opposite of ours at home.

People here talk rather differently but if you listen closely, you can understand them the first time. It is a mixture of English and Scottish, I would from anyone for quite a while, but I expect to get a good bundle of mail soon. Perhaps next week or at the latest the next. Writing like this seems to be so one-sided and it must be the same with you, so we'll all have to have patience.

This city life is fine. I enjoy the people and their hospitality here. It is late winter or early spring here now. The weather is ideal. Cool during the day and quite bracing during the night. I haven't seen any frost or ice but I don't think that that occurs here. It seemed funny but when we crossed the equator we had the heat on. You guess why.

By the way, I have collected quite a few souvenirs such as money and shells. Perhaps I can send some of it home. I'm going to try anyhow.

Well, folks I've seen a lot of country already and I'll still pick the good old U.S.A. I've missed it since the second day I left, but I'm not homesick. I just appreciate our States. There is nothing in the world like them. I wish that I could emphasize that much more, but just words won't do it justice. If I were home right now I'd be in grandma's garden eating ripe tomatoes. Tell both of them that even though I've missed that year, I have often almost tasted them in my thoughts.

I will close now, but will write again soon. My regards to all and my love to you.

Your son, Al.

Minnesota

Donald E. Field, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Field, 539 West Wilson st., Palatine, is now enrolled in the U. S. Naval training school for electricians on the University of Minnesota campus.

He will receive a 16-week course, which includes instruction in electrical theory, electrical machine, wiring and mathematics, as well as advanced training in naval procedure.

After completing the course, he will be eligible for promotion to a petty officer's rating of electrician, third class, and will be assigned to the fleet or to another naval shore station.

Don was selected for the training after having shown an aptitude for electrical work through a series of tests given him during his recruit training period. Several hundred men are attending the school here.

Great Lakes

Robert J. DeLacey, 21, husband of Mrs. Beverly DeLacey, Bensenville, reported to Great Lakes last week to begin his basic training to prepare him for duty aboard one of Uncle Sam's fighting warships.

The Ralph Gallimore of Palatine, have heard from their son, Ralph, Jr., who enlisted in the U. S. Navy December 1, and is now at Great Lakes. He would be more than glad to hear from any of his schoolmates and friends. His address is U.S.N.-J.S. Co. 1873, A.S., Great Lakes, Ill.

Pvt. Louis Sadecky of Arlington Heights writes this week in appreciation of the recent $43 traveling bank gift. That amount set a new record for the bank. "I never appreciated how much it means to a fellow to know that the folks back home still remember him," writes Louis. "Just think what it means to one who has been away a long time." Louis is at the 64th general hospital, Sec. D, Fort Jackson, South Carolina.

California

Pvt. Roy C. Pomplun, of Arlington Heights, has been stationed at the tank school of the marine corps at San Diego, California, for the past five weeks, after competing out training.

Ray scored as an expert rifleman at the rifle range, receiving five medals. At present he's learning all about radio operation, map and compass reading, diesel engine and how to communicate with the men in all planes from our tanks. The tanks weigh 32 tons and are the biggest size tanks the marine have ever had. They are some out fits.

"The training is good and very educational," says Ray, "and I wouldn't trade the 'Marines' for any other branch. Mrs. Pomplun (formerly Adele Smith), is with Ray at San Diego, California."

Pvt. John DePue of Palatine feels that he really got a break when he was assigned to Camp Roberts, Calif., as his family is out in California and not too far from there.

California

A letter from Mrs. Russell Reed from Oakland, California, last week told of a surprise visit from Lester Tesch, U.S.N. of Wheeling. Mr. Tesch had been stationed at Cape May, New Jersey, where he had been living with his family. Recently he was sent to Los Angeles for a month of special training after which he is scheduled to go to Orlando, Florida. His family has returned to Florida, which is his wife's home state.

The rank of Corporal was received by Marine Alfred Krueger, of Wheeling shortly after arriving at his destination in the South Pacific recently. Corp. Krueger has not been able to tell where he is stationed, but his family thinks it likely that he is in the Solomons area.

De Camp:
This letter has been a long time getting away due to K. P. and various other hindrance. But I've thought of a lot of you often. We stay in modern hotels formerly occupied by tourists. They are located on the ocean front and we can go swimming in it, time that we are free except after dark.

Although I'm in the air force that doesn't mean that I'll be around airplanes. This is mostly a base for airplane mechanics and I never was very good at mechanics. There are some training schools available and I wouldn't mind going to one if it works out that way.

Yesterday we had a bunch of R.A.F. fliers move in across from us. Only difference from our fliers is in their talk and I noticed that they aren't as tall.

At nine o'clock all lights go out as there must be a complete black out along the coast. We have to be in bed by 10 p. m. and we reveille at 5:15 a. m. every week day and at 6:15 on Sundays.

We soldiers aren't allowed to go to Miami, which is only 4 or 5 miles across P'seigne Bay. The fellows on this island number the girls about 44 to 1. I doubt whether we will be here much longer than 2 or 4 weeks. Some of the men aren't kept here that long.

Think that I'd better close for now, but say hello to everyone for me and if you have time to drop me a line here is my address.

Tighter food outlook to step-up production

A tighter food situation in 1943 is expected to lead to a further stepping up of home food production, according to Mrs. Ruth Crawford Freeman, home accounts specialist, and representative from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, to the recent national outlook conference in Washington, D. C.

Smaller supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables available for civilians, smaller supplies of canned fruits and vegetables, together with reduced supplies of milk and possibly of fats and oils are seen as the major factors to touch off a greater-than-ever food production drive for the farm family next spring. Foods which are not expected to be on the "squeezed" list are cereals, while there is anticipated a larger amount of sweet potatoes, dried beans, poultry, eggs and meats later on.

Increased quantities of foods raised plus the increased price of such commodities will mean a higher money value for farm furnished food, said Mrs. Freeman. This will help to swell the non-cash farm income which in turn permits greater freedom in the use of the family's net cash income. As the 1942 farm family financial picture stands at present, the cash farm income for the United States as a whole will be nearly a third larger than in 1941.

More Savings
The fact that families will have more ready cash and that home production of larger quantities of food can aid the national food situation ties in definitely with another war goal — increased savings. Mrs. Freeman pointed out. Families will find themselves in a position to reduce excessive debts to a safe basis, to purchase bonds as a ready means to have some liquid assets, to buy bonds and stamps as a means of building up a financial reserve which can help offset the depreciation of durable goods used up during the war period and to anticipate the post-war period.

Outlook for the immediate future is clouded by the fact that there is a lack of man power; there is a drastic need for metals, grease and other materials necessary to the war effort, and there is a scarcity of certain commodities as the result of reduction in manufacturing.

This situation can be partially met by the protection of family health and safety and by cooperation in carrying out home work efficiently; by salvaging equipment, clothing, unused metals and waste materials; by conserving and repairing promptly all equipment and furnishings, and by helping control prices and willingly accepting rationing, Mrs. Freeman indicated.

Smilin' Jack says—

"You know, it's swell of the folks at home to buy War Bonds the way they're doing. I understand everybody is going to be signed up for 10% of their pay by New Year's!"

May the benign influence of this blessed season extend far into the future, bringing to you the hope of all civilized humanity...the peace and good will proclaimed nineteen hundred forty-two years ago.

Farmers ready to add to 1943 egg production

With poultry production up nearly 15 per cent over last year, Illinois finds itself in a favorable position to contribute toward the goal of 200 million additional chickens for poultry meat recently announced by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard.

Most farm brooder houses were, and still are, in use for much of the carry-over of the 1942 crop at the time the goal was announced, reports H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Results now indicate that October and November hatchings have exceeded those of previous years by from 10 to 12 per cent. In October, 1942, 350,000 more chicks were hatched in this state than in the same month of 1941. These figures are exclusive of the volume of hatching eggs shipped east to commercial broiler plants.

In spite of the fact there is not a large number of fall-hatched chicks on the farms, Illinois has increased production of fall eggs and chicks and has contributed fall-hatched chicks to farms in other states.

Of the 102 counties in the state, 96 were represented in a ten weeks' poultry radio and correspondence short course organized by the extension service of the college early in October. Actual registration shows that between 10,000 and 11,000 contacts will have been made. Objective of the program was to help poultry producers.

"We have 260 pullets, housed and our last three-weeks' production averaged 199 eggs per day or 76.5 per cent," one enrollee reported.

"On October 19 they laid 199 eggs and have laid about that number ever since. We do not have hired help, so my wife takes care of the chickens. I think she should have an 'E' for her performance."

"We have 300 pullets hatched March 23," another wrote. "Of the early development, 160 were put in the laying house on September 12. The remaining 150 birds of later development were put in the house on October 1. This week they have laid as high as 218 to 222 eggs a day, an average of 71 per cent for both houses."

"We're helping out on the demand for more poultry for meat by raising a brood of Barred Rocks this fall. We have lost only 11 out of the bunch of 405 in three weeks."

Seed prices up, production down for 1942 forage

The old saying that the less there is, the more it is worth, is now being borne out by price advances in Illinois forage legumes over last year's prices, states J. C. Hackleman, crops specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Alfalfa seed production in 1942 was 11 per cent below 1941 and was approximately 14 per cent less than the amount of seed used in 1941-42 while the October 15 farm price is $4.50 a hundred-weight higher than a year ago.

"Red clover seed supplies are 23 million pounds or 20 per cent below those of 1941-42, and Illinois production this year was sharply below that of recent years. The October 15 price received by growers was $3.25 a hundred-weight more than last year."

Although considerably smaller than last year, supplies of alfalfa and sweet clover will probably be sufficient to meet needs, Hackleman added, but carryover next year will probably be small because of reduced production.

Alfalfa prices in October were up $1.94 above a year ago, while sweet clover prices were 45 cents a bushel higher than in 1941.

Led by timothy and bluegrass, the supplies of grass seed seem ample to meet domestic demands, although supplies are not at record levels and might advance sharply if heavy lease-lend purchases should develop during the winter.

Lespedeza is apparently the only important forage legume seed that appears to be in ample supply.

Boondoggie

The word "boondoggie" was coined by Eagle Scout Robert H. Link of Rochester, N.Y., to describe a gadget worn by the Boy Scouts. Boondoggies are made of plaited leather and worn by scouts as uniform ornaments or as neckerchief slides. The term is now being used for "useful gadgets" made in connection with work relief.

More foods, soil conservation on AAA program

Adjustments to the nation's needs and soil conservation continue to be the principal features of the 1943 Agricultural Adjustment Agency farm program, announces Carl M. Hornet, Cook County AAA chairman.

The program provides for allotments on the same basic crops as in the past in order to keep crop production in accordance with predicted needs. It also places emphasis on the production in accordance with predicted needs. It also places emphasis on the production of war crops and stresses still payment deductions on farms failing to meet war production goals.

AAA Community Committeemen who will get pledges from farmers on cooperating with the farm program early next year also will be the government's representatives to insure meeting all 1943 food freedom goals. Farmers will pledge either AAA cooperation or meeting goals, or both, on the 1943 AAA Farm Plan.

Farmers cooperating in the AAA program next year will earn production adjustment payments and a soil building allowance. Adjustment payments are 3.5 cents per bushel on corn and 9.2 cents per bushel on wheat.

Payments will be deducted at five times the compliance rate for failure to plant at least 90 per cent of the allotment and at 10 times the rate for overplanting the allotment. Deductions also will be made for failure to meet specified goals on special war crops.

This system of payments and deductions means the government wants farmers to meet allotments and goals as closely as possible, Mr. Hornet said. If they follow the farm program plan, they will be meeting all crop needs with the least amount of damage to their soil.

The 1943 AAA corn allotment has been increased four per cent over 1942 in Illinois. Farmers are urged to stay within this increase because the corn supply is the biggest in history and no more is needed for next year. The wheat allotment has been set at the minimum possible under law, because of the great supply of wheat.

Farmers to earn more but problems mount

Child's chance in life determined by food he eats

In spite of the American creed that "all men are born equal," some babies are handicapped right from the start. They don't have a chance for the right kind of food to give them proper development, declares Miss Gladys Kinsman, professor of nutrition, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Rickets, a disease primarily of children less than two years of age, which is caused by under-nutrition, leaves conditions such as bow legs and narrow chests and hips that can not be changed all the rest of the child's life. During these same and succeeding formative years, the child's permanent teeth are being formed.

One of the advantages of a widespread nutrition program carried out over a period of years from one generation to the next is that ultimately all babies would get as good a start in life as food can give them. No child would be handicapped all the rest of his life by nutritional scars resulting from improper food, Miss Kinsman pointed out.

The fact that good food habits are not an emergency measure but should be maintained at all times is shown by the fact that a high percentage of the young men who were rejected because of previous poor nutrition. Among other things many of them could not meet the requirement of having twelve teeth, Miss Kinsman said.

Along with predicting a better physical and mental outlook for the very young child, Miss Kinsman believes that people will have a longer and more active life if they put into practical everyday use the teachings of scientific research in nutrition.

President's Farm
The President owns 1,750 acres near Warm Springs, Ga., of which only about 150 are in cultivation. The remainder consists principally of splendid mountain forests.

Eight Billion on Construction
The supply priorities and allocation board estimates that $8,000,000,000 will be spent on construction in 1942, three-fourths of it for war needs.

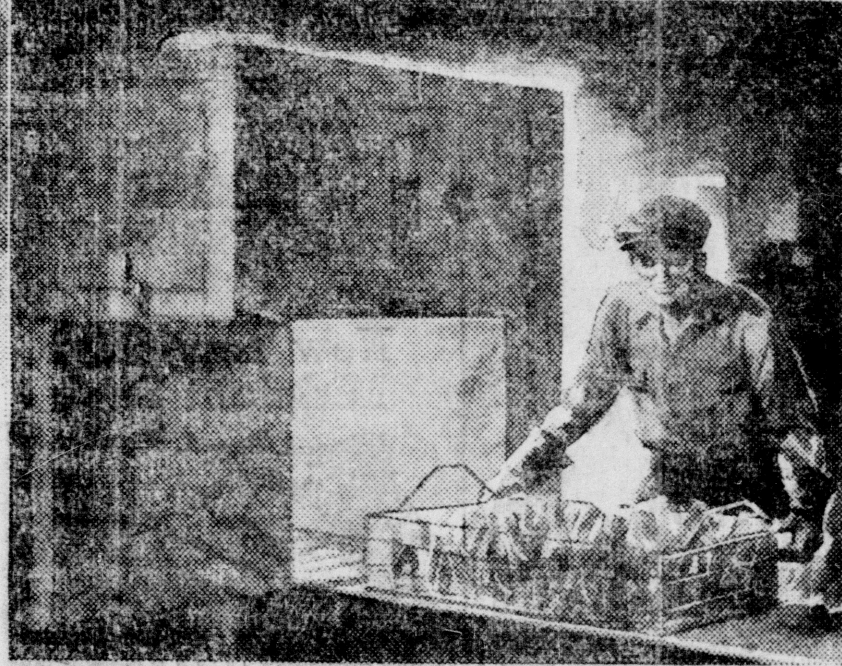

Barbed wire cutters are heat-treated with

GAS

To meet the demands of modern warfare, war tools, as commonplace as barbed wire cutters, must be produced with the skill, precision and thoroughness that is applied to our planes, guns and tanks.

Like many of the war tools produced in America's great war production plants, these wire cutters are heat-treated with gas. After hardening in a gas-fired lead pot at 1,400 degrees, the steel blades are further heat-treated in the oven-type convection furnace by the free circulation of hot gas at 450 degrees. The rapid, uniform heat of gas makes these wire cutters as tough and rugged as the fighting commandos themselves.

Day and night it is our job to maintain the gas supply for war production in this area. For this all-important task we are applying the efficiency developed through years of experience.

FARM TRACTORS IN WARTIME

High-Compression Tractor Engines
(Fourth of a Series of Six Articles)
By A. P. Peck
Managing Editor, Scientific American

More work to be done with less labor to do it, is the situation that now faces farmers throughout the country. Thus it is up to the farmer to do everything possible to obtain the highest efficiency from his farm equipment and this, of course, involves principally his tractors.

Of the 1,800,000 tractors on American farms today, there are hundreds of thousands that are more than six years old.
These were built during the years when it was the usual thing to compromise the design of tractor engines to enable them to burn any fuel the owner happened to choose; gasoline, distillate or kerosene. When, however, one progressive manufacturer designed a tractor engine to take real advantage of gasoline and brought out a high-compression engine out-performed distillateburning engines in every respect.

In order to understand the difference between gasoline and dis-tillate as a fuel for tractor engines, it is necessary to know something of the way in which an engine operates. All internal-combustion engines, whether for use in automobiles, trucks, or tractors, produce power by burning a mixture of fuel and air in a series of cylinders. The fuel is vaporized in the carburetor, mixed with air, and drawn into the cylinder as the piston goes down on the suction stroke. As the piston comes up it compresses the mixture, which is then fired by the spark plug. As the mixture burns it produces a steadily increasing pressure which forces the piston down.

The amount of useful power that a tractor engine develops depends on the size of the engine, the speed at which it turns, and the pressure developed by the burning of the fuel in the cylinders.
The first two of these factors cannot easily be changed after an engine has been built, but it is entirely possible to increase the pressure in the cylinders. One way to do this is by high-compressioning the engine and another is to let the engine breathe more fuel and more air on each piston stroke.
This latter can quickly and simply be accomplished by changing manifold controls from "hot" to "cold" positions and removing any metal shield or "stove" that happens to be present, if gasoline is burned.

Here's what happens when the change is made. Gasoline vapors are at a much lower temperature than distillate. Therefore the manifold temperatures required with gasoline are lower. This in turn means that the air mixed with the fuel will be cooler and therefore heavier than the air that goes through the hot manifold of a dis-tillate-burning engine. Since the air-fuel mixture is cooler and heavier, a greater weight of fuel and air, and hence a greater quantity, is drawn into the cylinders.
This greater quantity of fuel mixture is then compressed into the same space as would be the smaller quantity of distillate mixture.
Therefore, there is increased pressure and the gasoline-burning tractor—as compared with the dis-tillate-burning unit—will pull greater loads or get over the ground faster in high gear. If these changes are made, of course, the tractor will not run on distillate or heavier, hard-to-vaporize fuels, and other changes necessary when gasoline is used exclusively should be made.
These include: adjusting carburetor for gasoline, and installing "cold" or gasoline-type spark plugs.

The greatest advantage of using gasoline, however, is obtained by high-compressioning the engine.
This involves replacing the pistons with high-compression or "altitude" pistons and making the other changes mentioned above. By such a change it is usually possible to increase the power of the engine by as much as 30 percent over that obtained with distillate. The change-over to high-compression can be done by the farmer himself if he is so inclined and equipped, or it can be done at a garage. In any event, the cost of the new parts is no greater than would be the cost of the same number of replacements in an ordinary overhaul. Because of the present shortage of parts, however, it is not recommended that tractor engines be high-compressioned until they are due for an overhaul anyway.

When
AT WAR

Irene
When Irene got home from the airplane factory she was good and tired. This was the hour, after work and before dinner, that she always looked forward to.
Her private name for it was "My sissy hour." Into it, these days, she packed all the lazy, luxurious little things she loved—things that used to take up a lot more than an hour of her peace-time days.

She sat down at the little desk in her room. You could tell quite a lot about Irene from that desk.
The water-glass filled with the small bouquet of flowers she sometimes bought on the way home. The paper-weight of pink marble. The thin, crackly blue air-mail stationery. And the big, framed photograph of a young man in a corporate's uniform—as good-looking a man as Irene was pretty. On the blotter pad lay the telegram that had come that morning just as she was leaving for work.

With those long, well-shaped fingers she reached for a sheet of paper. She nibbled the end of her pen for a bit, and then she inked up her nose at the picture of the soldier and began to write,
"Dear Mr. Morgenthau," but the corporal's name was Jackson and she called him Pete. Her round handwriting spread across the page. "My boy friend is with the A.E.F. in Ireland. He has cabled me fifty dollars with which to buy a diamond ring. I've been thinking it over and decided to buy a War Bond to help Uncle Sam instead. This may help to bring my boy friend home sooner, and then he can help me select my ring."

Slowly she began to sign her name, "Irene —"

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Let's all sacrifice as Irene has done. Bring final victory closer with the money you put into War Bonds. Make certain your family budget tops 10 percent by New Year's.

FOR YOUR

"Our daughter has a hope chest . . . in an envelope!"

"When our little girl's great day comes—and it may not be more than 10 years off—she's going to have all the things a girl dreams about.

"Bright-flowered luncheon sets and fine Irish linen . . . satin-smooth percale sheets and soft fluffy bath towels . . . and lovely lace-edged lingerie . . . "A setting-out like that will cost at least $400!

"We'll only pay $300. Because, you see, we're buying War Bonds for her. And for every $3 worth we buy we get $4 back in 10 years.

"So every single month we buy a $25 War Bond which costs us only $18.75.

Buying freedom

"And there's something else you can't help but think about when you buy War Bonds. We're doing more than saving money and making a good investment for the future. We're buying the guns and planes and tanks to defend our home. If we don't help our country now to defend our little girl's future, she won't have any future. Except a short and terrible life of slavery to a Jap or Nazi master."

This little girl's father is putting every spare cent of cash into War Bonds, through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan. So are the great majority of Americans. But there are still some Americans who ought to be buying War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan . . . and aren't.

Others are in, but haven't hit their 10 percent yet. Some could stretch it to 12 percent or 15 percent, just as thousands of other hard-working people are doing.

Everybody—every pay day—10 percent or more

Uncle Sam hopes that every person on a pay roll will be in the Pay-Roll Savings Plan by New Year's. And that we'll top the 10 percent goal. Yes, top it . . . because we know now it's going to take more than 10 percent to win!

Your comforts and your fun must wait. Your Bonds will buy them all some day . . . more of them than you can ever buy now.

If you are in, be sure you're putting not 6 percent or 7 percent or 8 percent, but at least 10 percent into War Bonds every pay day!

If you aren't in the Pay-Roll Savings Plan . . . sign up tomorrow!

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO

If you are . . .

1. Already setting aside 10 percent of your pay for War Bonds through the Pay-Roll Savings Plan—boost that 10 percent if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Pay-Roll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager, and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Pay-Roll Savings Plan for any reason, go to see your local bank, or other issuing agent. They will be glad to help you start a plan of your own.
